Army-Navy Differences On Unification Will Be Resolved by President

Truman Confers with Patterson, Forrestal and Top Officers

WASHINGTON, June 4. (AP)—President Truman notified the army and navy today that he will resolve the differences between them on unification.

This was reported by White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, who said the president had "a very constructive session" with the secretaries of war and navy and other top officers.

"The points of difference were taken under advisement by the president who will render his decision upon them," Ross told reporters. "He will decide what form of unification will be the policy."

The session lasted ninety minutes. Neither War Secretary Patterson nor Navy Secretary Forrestal would comment beyond saying it was a very interesting and full discussion.

Ross added that all the points of disagreement were "thoroughly discussed by both sides" and were then taken under advisement by the president.

Ross could not be specific as to the form the president's decision might take, nor could he say whether it would go to Congress in the form of a new bill.

In addition to the navy and army secretaries, those participating in the conference were Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, army chief of staff; Adm. Chester Nimitz, chief of naval operations; Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, the president's military aide; Adm. William D. Leahy, the president's chief of staff, and Capt. Clark Clifford, the president's naval aide.

In response to a question, Ross said that "all of this is moving toward unification."

Later Ross said that after the president "has resolved these points of difference his ideas will be the joint views of the army and navy and be presented to Congress in the regular way through appropriate committees as the basis for legislation."

Ross would not predict when this will be accomplished. There was general belief that many of the differences between the armed services have been ironed out during the past several weeks.

The War department has been advocating a single department under which the army, navy, and air forces would function as co-equal units.

The navy is understood to favor retention of the present departmental setup with an overall coordinator operating under the president.

Other differences are reported to involve the future status of the marines and retention by the navy of control over its land based patrol planes.

Bevin Calls Reds' Ideas of Security Peace Obstacle

British Foreign Secretary Appeals to Russia To Work for Peace

LONDON, June 4 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin declared today that Russian ideas of security and democracy constituted "one of the greatest obstacles to peace," and said permanent peace in Europe could be assured "only if Russia enters freely into the European settlement."

Bevin, reviewing the deadlocked Paris foreign ministers' conference, urged the Soviet Union to reconsider its rejection of the American plan for a four-power pact to control German armaments, and to grasp that "great opportunity" before it was too late.

"I say to the Soviet government that if you value peace above all else, do not miss it; it may never come again," the foreign secretary declared in a speech to the House of Commons.

"If we don't want to have total war we must have total peace," Bevin asserted.

Looking toward a resumption of the four-power talks June 15, Bevin said he proposed "to make another effort at agreement before deciding on any final alternative course." If the talks failed, he said, he would insist upon adoption of the American proposal to place the disputed European treaties before a twenty-one-nation general peace conference.

Replying to Soviet Foreign Minter V. M. Molotov, Bevin declared that "one of the greatest obstacles to peace" was the Soviet idea that the Russian method alone represented democracy, along with the idea that Russia could have security "only when every other country in the world has adopted the Soviet system." He vigorously denied the existence of any British-American bloc.

Bevin also put forth his own idea

Eye Operations Enable Woman To See Man Who Married Her 12 Years Ago

PHILADELPHIA, June 4 (AP)—Happily married twelve years, Mrs. Helen Davis's favorite pastime these days is looking at the husband she never saw until a few weeks ago.

The 35-year-old Philadelphia housewife credits her husband, Walter, with finding the medical assistance which partially restored her sight after seventeen years of almost total blindness.

Physicians blamed an infection for her loss of sight. Walter, who never gave up hope, enlisted the aid of a surgeon who in two delicate and difficult operations created artificial pupils in her eyes which now give her about ten per cent of normal vision, with hope for further improvement.

Tie Vote Blocks Taft Amendment To OPA Measure

Senate Banking Committee Splits on Question of Price Margins

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—The future form of OPA became more uncertain today as a sharply-divided Senate Banking committee progressed slowly on a bill extending the agency's life beyond June 30.

A tie 8-to-8 vote blocked an amendment by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) which had solid Republican backing. It would have forbidden OPA to establish ceilings which failed to reflect to manufacturers and processors their price during the base period October 1-15, 1941, plus the weighted average unit cost increase within their industry since then.

Chairman Wagner (D-NY) at first announced that the amendment had carried, 9 to 8. Taft corrected him, expaining that a Democrat whom he did not name had voted for it but had withdrawn his vote.

The bill which came over from the House still carries the Wolcott amendment which provides that each producer, processor and distributor shall receive current cost plus "a reasonable profit." Taft said that if the 8-to-8 vote showed the true division of sentiment within the committee, the Wolcott amendment could not be removed. Since the death of Carter Glass, the committee only has nineteen members, and one of them, Sen. Bankhead (D-Ala) is critically ill in a hospital.

All hope of getting the bill out of committee today was abandoned after the impasse on price margins. Majority Leader Barkley, a member of the committee, said he didn't see how it could be called up in the Senate before next week.

The committee rejected amendments proposed by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) which would have provided wholesalers, retailers and service industries the same margin of profit they enjoyed before the war.

In the one positive accomplishment of the session, the committee adopted, 11 to 4, an amendment by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) providing that historic prewar discounts must be respected by OPA in setting prices in industries where the discount system rather than the mark-up plan is the regular procedure.

Taft said the Fulbright amendment particularly affects the automobile, farm implements and refrigerator trades.

Easing of Bread Shortage Is Seen

CHICAGO, June 4. (AP)—The nation has struck "bottom" in the current domestic flour shortage, the Millers' National Federation said today, and a gradual easing of the critical bread shortage may start in two or three weeks.

There were two signs the nation's worst bread shortage soon will be on the wane. They were:

1—The new winter wheat crop, which has started coming in in Texas and Oklahoma, is running twenty-five per cent above pre-harvest expectations.

2—The Department of Agriculture drafted a plan for dipping into foreign relief wheat stocks to relieve conditions in the most acute bread shortage areas in the country.

Herman Steen, executive secretary of the Millers National Federation, said "this is the worst week the millers will have." Between eighty and ninety per cent of the nation's flour mills will shut down because of lack of wheat to grind into flour, he said.

He added, however, that the winter wheat harvest started in the Southwest in mid-May with excellent yields. He predicted the acute shortage would be considerably relieved by mid-to-late July as more of the new crop reaches the mills.

However, Steen said he saw no immediate boost in bread output, even if the government's plan for lending foreign-consigned wheat to mills "proves workable."

Charges That Martin Broke Grain Trading Laws Are Dropped

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP) — The Agriculture department today dropped its charges that Glenn L. Martin, Baltimore airplane manufacturer, violated government trading regulations in connection with transactions in rye futures contracts on the Chicago Board of Trade on June 9, 1945.

However, it ordered Martin's broker — Henry Ullrich, and the firm, Ullrich and Company, Wilmington, Del.—suspended for five days from trading on commodity exchanges operating under control of the Commodity Exchange act.

Martin and his broker were charged by the department with having traded in excess of a daily limit of 2,000,000 bushels of rye futures. The limit had been set by the government to prevent what it called "excessive speculation."

35-Cent Increase In Coal Price Is Being Considered

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP) — An OPA official reported today that thirty-five cents a ton is the average amount of the soft coal price increase now under consideration.

This figure would be based on the costs involved in operating the mines six days a week. The official, whose name may not be used, said the OPA and the Office of Economic Stabilization have been informed unofficially that the government plans six-day operation for the present.

Operators seeking to get their mines back from the government discussed with the OPA the extent of the price increase they could expect by signing a contract with John L. Lewis.

The OPA seeks to complete its price conferences with representatives of the various bituminous production districts this week and issue its new price order next week.

The OPA official reported that the sessions with the operators today went into the amount of money involved in maintaining a work force to keep the mines pumped out and ready for resuming operations during the strike, and other "stand-by" costs.

He added that although it was not customary to consider strike losses in formulating price policy, nevertheless it was doubtful that some operators would be able to resume if the government failed to make provision to cover this loss.

Marshall Is Said To Have Laid Proposals before Communists

By JOHN RODERICK

NANKING, Wednesday, June 5 (AP) —A high government source said today that Generalissimo Chiang Ki-Shek had agreed in a conversation with United States General Marshall to halt for ten days the central government offensive in Manchuria and leave the way open for peace negotiations with Chinese Communists.

This usually reliable offficial said that Chiang further agreed to establish a branch office of the Peiping executive (truce) headquarters in Changchun, capital of Manchuria, to open negotiations.

Marshall, who talked five hours yesterday with the generalissimo, was understood to have laid the proposals before Gen. Chou En-Lai, chief negotiator for the Communists.

The government official added that Chiang first proposed a seven-day truce, but that Marshall suggested ten days.

Chiang reportedly said he would issue a cease-fire order during this period, regardless of what action Communists take.

Marshall's meetings yesterday with Chiang and Chou had generated no special optimism in this anxious capital. Communists sources had expressed doubt as to chances of an early settlement.

Coast Guard, Apparently Preparing For Ship Strike, Halts Discharges

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP) — All coast guard discharges were suspended tonight in apparent preparation for the threatened maritime strike, but government conciliators reported progress in their attempts to avert the walkout.

The coast guard headquarters gave no reason for stopping the release of its men but it was considered a move to conserve manpower for operating ships if the CIO strike occurs June 15 as scheduled.

United States Conciliation Director Edgar L. Warren told reporters the CIO National Maritime Union has "receded from its basic position with respect to the forty-hour week."

He did not explain what the new union proposal was: A basic work-week somewhere beyond forty-hours, also an overall limit on the total hours a week to be worked. Overtime pay would apply for hours worked beyond the basic week and up to the limit.

The union's prior best offer was a forty-two-hour week of six hours a day for seven days, with overtime for the two hours worked every week beyond forty.

Warren told reporters the ship operators still maintained that a reduction from the present fifty-six hour week at sea "presents so many problems that it must be the subject of thorough study before they can agree to a change."

Western Union Gets Authority To Boost Rates

FCC Allows 10 Per Cent Increase, Revision of Certain Services

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission announced tonight that it will allow Western Union to increase message rates ten per cent for one year and revise certain classes of service.

The increase will apply to full rate, day letter, night letter, serial and press messages.

Western union must file revised rate schedules with the commission and give thirty days' notice before putting the new rates into effect.

The commission also announced that it has ordered a full investigation of Western Union's rate structure.

Western Union also was authorized to revise these specific classes of service:

(1) Eliminate "tourate" service, free forwarding practice, exchange floor-to-floor rates, longram and serial longram services. (Tourate messages request hotel or other reservations. Longrams exceed the maximum wordage under which a telegram can be sent as a night letter.)

(2) Revise money order premium charges and night letter charges.

The commission said: "In view of Western Union's dire need for additional revenue, we are of the opinion that it should have the opportunity xxx to seek relief from operating losses by rate increases.

"The commission found that Western Union is currently operating at a loss. For the month of March, 1946, Western Union shows a deficit of more than $1,000,000 and, at its present rates, it expects to have a loss of about $12,000,000 for the year 1946.

"The company also expects to exhaust by the end of 1946 its surplus of cash over alleged working cash requirements."

Lane Urges Road Funds for Roads

BALTIMORE, June 4 (AP)—Charging that a practice of loading non-highway expenses on Maryland road revenues was expanding, William Preston Lane, Jr., candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, declared tonight that the state roads commission was in danger of becoming a road maintenance agency.

Lane said it had become a practice to use road funds for a variety of purposes, "some of which have little relationship to the state highway system." The result, he said, was that little, if anything, was provided for actual construction.

As an example, Lane cited the state police department. He said highway revenues were taxed in the amount of $418,688.32 for state police in 1941, whereas the sum this year amounted to $964,214, and the 1947 appropriation would be $1,125,647.

"There was a time," he said, "when the state police were attached to the commissioner of motor vehicles and their work was concerned exclusively with the enforcement of the motor vehicle laws.

"Now it has become a separate department, engaged in the enforcement of penal statutes in all parts of the state except Baltimore city.

"Why the users of the highways, state, city and county, should provide all the revenues for a state police department, is not clear.

"And there are other illustrations of charges against highway revenues which properly belong elsewhere. Unless a halt is called, Maryland may begin to find it difficult to provide even the maintenance costs."

Big Sandy Project Is Rejected by House

WASHINGTON, June 4. (AP)—The House rejected today the controversial Big Sandy navigation project for the tri-state area of Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia.

After vigorous debate by representatives from the three states the House approved 88 to 52 an amendment by Rep. Dondero (R-Mich) to eliminate the $82,300,000 program from the rivers and harbors bill.

Rep. May (D-Ky), urging approval of the project, asserted "this is a fight between two railroads (the Norfolk and Western and the Chesapeake and Ohio) and the masses of people (in the Big Sandy valley). I don't think the House wants to take a stand against the masses of people," he added.

Opposing the project on the grounds that it was economically unsound and not justified were Reps. Robertson (D-Va), Randolph (D-WVa), Flannagan (D-Va), and Bailey (D-WVa).

Tax Payments Drop

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 4 (AP) — Resident individual income tax payments through May 31 decreased from $6,047,062 on 1944 returns to $4,804,351 on 1945 returns, comptroller J. Millard Tawes reported today.

Publisher Will Serve as World Bank President

Eugene Meyer Will "Devote Full Energies" to Lending Agency

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON, June 4—(AP)—The world bank today elected its first president—Eugene Meyer, publisher-editor of the Washington Post, one-time private banker and first board chairman of the RFC.

A strong advocate of loans to war-torn countries as a key to reconstruction abroad and business expansion at home, Meyer declared in a statement:

"The world is well aware today of the food famine. At the same time we must become equally aware that the world is starving for the products of industry.

"The bank was organized to promote reconstruction and development in both these essential activities."

Stepping at 70 into the role of global banker to cap a distinguished private and public career, Meyer promised to "devote my full energies" to the thirty-eight-nation, $7,670,000,000 lending agency.

The United States member of the bank's directorate, Emilio Collado, said he understood Meyer would retain ownership of the Washington Post but not the editorship, and will "not be responsible for its editorial policy." Meyer did not comment on this.

Unanimously, the twelve executive directors of the international bank for reconstruction and development chose Meyer at their morning session. The news quickly leaked, and was formally announced at a news conference held by Collado later.

Subsequently the White House disclosed that President Truman had suggested Meyer's name and was "delighted at the selection."

The bank presidency pays $30,000 a year tax-free, more than any United States official receives except Mr. Truman. The same salary goes to Camille Gutt, of Belgium, head of the international monetary fund.

Chamber Brings Bill Up to Brink Of Final Action, Then Halts Work

Amendment Makes 18 and 19-Year-Olds Again Subject to Call

PAY HIKE IS DESIGNED TO SPUR ENLISTMENTS

Privates Would Receive $75, Corporals $90, Sergeants $100

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—The Senate brought a teen-age inducting, pay-increasing draft bill up to the brink of final action tonight only to halt work abruptly till tomorrow.

Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) explained that several hours might be required to dispose of a substitute proposal by Sen. Revercomb (R-WVa) to continue Selective Service authority until May 15, 1947, but suspend all inductions until Congress ordered otherwise.

The Senate already had voted 53 to 26 to make 18 and 19-year-olds —now temporarily exempted—subject to call and had approved pay hikes for enlisted men when Sen. Gurney (R-SD), in charge of the bill, announced that it seemed impossible to get a final vote within a reasonable time.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC) protested vigorously against any delay, forcing a series of quorum calls.

Barkley finally moved to recess the Senate until 11 a. m. (EST) tomorrow and was sustained on a 45 to 17 roll call vote.

The pay boost, proposed by Sen. LaFollette (Prog-Wis) and Johnson (D-Colo) was designed to spur voluntary enlistments.

Privates Would Get $75

Pay of privates would be boosted from $50 a month to $75; privates first class from $54 to $80; corporals from $66 to $90; and sergeants from $78 to $100. Corresponding increases would be paid to marines and sailors.

These same increases had been voted by the House along with increases ranging from ten to twenty per cent for other non-commissioned and for commissioned officers.

The Senate, however, passed up the question of pay raises for commissioned officers and adopted a lower scale of monthly pay boosts for staff, technical and master sergeants and equivalent ranks in other services than approved by the House.

Sen. Gurney (R-SD) estimated the cost of the Senate-approved pay scale at $450,000,000, while Johnson placed the figure at $350,000,000.

The Senate Military committee had approved a lesser increase for

Tawes Is Confident He Will Win Nomination

BALTIMORE, June 4 (AP)—Confidently predicting victory in the three-way battle for the Democratic nomination for governor in the June 24 primary, J. Millard Tawes said tonight that "we want no parts of the Political Action Committee."

"I have said, and I repeat, no permanent good can come to the Democratic party by aligning itself with subversive elements, Communists or near Communists," Tawes declared in a statement.

"The people of Maryland want a conservative, business administration."

Tawes said his ticket would get sufficient margin in the counties along with the Baltimore city districts he claims to carry the state.

His running mates are Charles H. Roloson, Jr., Baltimore, for state comptroller, and W. Earle Cobey, of Western Maryland, for attorney general.

Government Announces Contract With GE for Atomic Development

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—A major step toward putting the atom to work for the benefit of humanity was taken tonight when the War department announced a contract with the General Electric Company for "an extensive research program" in atomic energy.

"Under the contract, GE will take over from E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company the operation of the government's $347,000,000 plant at Hanford, Wash., about September 1.

"It was at the urgent request of the government at a time of national emergency," the announcement said, "that the du Pont company undertook the design, construction and operation of the Hanford works.

"The work was undertaken with the intention expressed to the War department of retiring from the program as soon after the hostilities as was consistent with the government's plans. This decision was based on the fact that this program, in its peacetime aspects, lies primarily in the field of power generation and only to a limited extent in the chemical field in which du Pont has always worked. At the request of the army the contract for operation of Hanford was extended until December 31, 1946, with a provision that it could be terminated at an earlier date."

A statement by Charles E. Wilson, president of GE, said the company accepts the responsibility because "it is of tremendous importance to our national interest that we maintain and develop still further our country's preeminence" in the field of atomic energy, having in mind both its military applications and its tremendous peacetime potentialities as a power source and in other beneficient applications."

Knowland, Rogers Lead California Race; Folsom Is Alabama Winner

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Political Reporter

Initial returns—very fragmentary—from California's hot senatorial cross-filing primary last night (Tuesday) put incumbent Republican Sen. William F. Knowland in the lead for renomination in the Republican column and Will Rogers, Jr. ahead in the Democratic.

Rep. Ellis E. Patterson, Los Angeles Democrat, was running second for the senatorial nomination on the Democratic and third on the Republican ticket. Rogers was second in the Republican count and Knowland third in the Democratic.

Gov. Earl Warren, Republican seeking another four year term, led Democratic Attorney General Robert Kenny on the Republican ticket and trailed Kenny only slightly on the Democratic. California permits candidates to file on both tickets.

Other returns at midnight from yesterday's five-state primary balloting:

New Mexico—Sen. Dennis Chavez led Gov. John J. Dempsey by less than 400 votes for the Democratic senatorial nomination in returns from eighty-seven of 869 precincts.

Alabama — James E. (Big Jim) Folsom, 37-year-old war veteran who had CIO-PAC support, won the Democratic nomination for governor in a runoff with Lt. Gov. Handy Ellis. In Alabama a Democratic nomination means election. Rep. Luther Patrick, another CIO-PAC backed candidate, was defeated by Laurie C. Battle, ex-army major, in another runoff for the Democratic House nomination in the Ninth district.

New Jersey — Rep. Fred A. Hartley, Jr., overcame strong CIO-PAC opposition to win Republican renomination over Walter A. Schaefer,

2—The Department of Agriculture drafted a plan for dipping into foreign relief wheat stocks to relieve conditions in the most acute bread shortage areas in the country.

Herman Steen, executive secretary of the Millers National Federation, said "this is the worst week the millers will have." Between eighty and ninety per cent of the nation's flour mills will shut down because of lack of wheat to grind into flour, he said.

He added, however, that the winter wheat harvest started in the Southwest in mid-May with excellent yields. He predicted the acute shortage would be considerably relieved by mid-to-late July as more of the new crop reaches the mills.

However, Steen said he saw no immediate boost in bread output, even if the government's plan for lending foreign-consigned wheat to mills "proves workable."

Charges That Martin Broke Grain Trading Laws Are Dropped

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP) — The Agriculture department today dropped its charges that Glenn L. Martin, Baltimore airplane manufacturer, violated government trading regulations in connection with transactions in rye futures contracts on the Chicago Board of Trade on June 9, 1945.

However, it ordered Martin's broker — Henry Ullrich, and the firm, Ullrich and Company, Wilmongton, Del.—suspended for five days from trading on commodity exchanges operating under control of the Commodity Exchange act.

Martin and his broker were charged by the department with having traded in excess of a daily limit of 2,000,000 bushels of rye futures. The limit had been set by the government to prevent what it called "excessive speculation."

35-Cent Increase In Coal Price Is Being Considered

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP) — An OPA official reported today that thirty-five cents a ton is the average amount of the soft coal price increase now under consideration.

This figure would be based on the costs involved in operating the mines six days a week. The official, whose name may not be used, said the OPA and the Office of Economic Stabilization have been informed unofficially that the government plans six-day operation for the present.

Operators seeking to get their mines back from the government discussed with the OPA the extent of the price increase they could expect by signing a contract with John L. Lewis.

The OPA seeks to complete its price conferences with representatives of the various bituminous production districts this week and issue its new price order next week.

The OPA official reported that the sessions with the operators today went into the amount of money involved in maintaining a work force to keep the mines pumped out and ready for resuming operations during the strike, and other "stand-by" costs.

He added that although it was not customary to consider strike losses in formulating price policy, nevertheless it was doubtful that some operators would be able to resume if the government failed to make provision to cover this loss.

Marshall Is Said To Have Laid Proposals before Communists

By JOHN RODERICK

NANKING, Wednesday, June 5 (AP) —A high government source said today that Generalissimo Chiang Ki-Shek had agreed in a conversation with United States General Marshall to halt for ten days the central government offensive in Manchuria and leave the way open for peace negotiations with Chinese Communists.

This usually reliable offficial said that Chiang further agreed to establish a branch office of the Peiping executive (truce) headquarters in Changchun, capital of Manchuria, to open negotiations.

Marshall, who talked five hours yesterday with the generalissimo, was understood to have laid the proposals before Gen. Chou En-Lai, chief negotiator for the Communists.

The government official added that Chiang first proposed a seven-day truce, but that Marshall suggested ten days.

Chiang reportedly said he would issue a cease-fire order during this period, regardless of what action Communists take.

Marshall's meetings yesterday with Chiang and Chou had generated no special optimism in this anxious capital. Communists sources had expressed doubt as to chances of an early settlement.

Western Union Gets Authority To Boost Rates

FCC Allows 10 Per Cent Increase, Revision of Certain Services

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission announced tonight that it will allow Western Union to increase message rates ten per cent for one year and revise certain classes of service.

The increase will apply to full rate, day letter, night letter, serial and press messages.

Western union must file revised rate schedules with the commission and give thirty days' notice before putting the new rates into effect.

The commission also announced that it has ordered a full investigation of Western Union's rate structure.

Western Union also was authorized to revise these specific classes of service:

(1) Eliminate "tourate" service, free forwarding practice, exchange floor-to-floor rates, longram and serial longram services. (Tourate messages request hotel or other reservations. Longrams exceed the maximum wordage under which a telegram can be sent as a night letter.)

(2) Revise money order premium charges and night letter charges.

The commission said: "In view of Western Union's dire need for additional revenue, we are of the opinion that it should have the opportunity xxx to seek relief from operating losses by rate increases.

"The commission found that Western Union is currently operating at a loss. For the month of March, 1946, Western Union shows a deficit of more than $1,000,000 and, at its present rates, it expects to have a loss of about $12,000,000 for the year 1946.

"The company also expects to exhaust by the end of 1946 its surplus of cash over alleged working cash requirements."

Lane Urges Road Funds for Roads

BALTIMORE, June 4 (AP)—Charging that a practice of loading nonhighway expenses on Maryland road revenues was expanding, William Preston Lane, Jr., candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, declared tonight that the state roads commission was in danger of becoming a road maintenance agency.

Lane said it had become a practice to use road funds for a variety of purposes, "some of which have little relationship to the state highway system." The result, he said, was that little, if anything, was provided for actual construction.

As an example, Lane cited the state police department. He said highway revenues were taxed in the amount of $418,688.32 for state police in 1941, whereas the sum this year amounted to $964,214, and the 1947 appropriation would be $1,125,647.

"There was a time," he said, "when the state police were attached to the commissioner of motor vehicles and their work was concerned exclusively with the enforcement of the motor vehicle laws.

"Now it has become a separate department, engaged in the enforcement of penal statutes in all parts of the state except Baltimore city.

"Why the users of the highways, state, city and county, should provide all the revenues for a state police department, is not clear.

"And there are other illustrations of charges against highway revenues which properly belong elsewhere. Unless a halt is called, Maryland may begin to find it difficult to provide even the maintenance costs."

Big Sandy Project Is Rejected by House

WASHINGTON, June 4. (AP)—The House rejected today the controversial Big Sandy navigation project for the tri-state area of Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia.

After vigorous debate by representatives from the three states the House approved 88 to 52 an amendment by Rep. Dondero (R-Mich) to eliminate the $82,300,000 program from the rivers and harbors bill.

Rep. May (D-Ky), urging approval of the project, asserted "this is a fight between two railroads (the Norfolk and Western and the Chesapeake and Ohio) and the masses of people (in the Big Sandy valley). I don't think the House wants to take a stand against the masses of people," he added.

Opposing the project on the grounds that it was economically unsound and not justified were Reps. Robertson (D-Va), Randolph (D-WVa), Flannagan (D-Va), and Bailey (D-WVa).

Tax Payments Drop

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 4 (AP) — Resident individual income tax payments through May 31 decreased from $6,047,062 on 1944 returns to $4,804,351 on 1945 returns, comptroller J. Millard Tawes reported today.

Coast Guard, Apparently Preparing For Ship Strike, Halts Discharges

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP) — All coast guard discharges were suspended tonight in apparent preparation for the threatened maritime strike, but government conciliators reported progress in their attempts to avert the walkout.

The coast guard headquarters gave no reason for stopping the release of its men but it was considered a move to conserve manpower for operating ships if the CIO strike occurs June 15 as scheduled.

United States Conciliation Director Edgar L. Warren told reporters the CIO National Maritime Union has "receded from its basic position with respect to the forty hour week."

He did not explain what the new union proposal was: A basic work-week somewhere beyond forty-hours, also an overall limit on the total hours a week to be worked. Overtime pay would apply for hours worked beyond the basic week and up to the limit.

The union's prior best offer was a forty-two-hour week of six hours a day for seven days, with overtime for the two hours worked every week beyond forty.

Warren told reporters the ship operators still maintained that a reduction from the present fifty-six hour week at sea "presents so many problems that it must be the subject of thorough study before they can agree to a change."

Publisher Will Serve as World Bank President

Eugene Meyer Will "Devote Full Energies" to Lending Agency

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON, June 4—(AP)—The world bank today elected its first president—Eugene Meyer, publisher-editor of the Washington Post, one-time private banker and first board chairman of the RFC.

A strong advocate of loans to war-torn countries as a key to reconstruction abroad and business expansion at home, Meyer declared in a statement:

"The world is well aware today of the food famine. At the same time we must become equally aware that the world is starving for the products of industry.

"The bank was organized to promote reconstruction and development in both these essential activities."

Stepping at 70 into the role of global banker to cap a distinguished private and public career, Meyer promised to "devote my full energies" to the thirty-eight-nation, $7,670,000,000 lending agency.

The United States member of the bank's directorate, Emilio Collado, said he understood Meyer would retain ownership of the Washington Post but not the editorship, and will "not be responsible for its editorial policy." Meyer did not comment on this.

Unanimously, the twelve executive directors of the international bank for reconstruction and development chose Meyer at their morning session. The news quickly leaked, and was formally announced at a news conference held by Collado later.

Subsequently the White House disclosed that President Truman had suggested Meyer's name and was "delighted at the selection."

The bank presidency pays $30,000 a year tax-free, more than any United States official receives except Mr. Truman. The same salary goes to Camille Gutt, of Belgium, head of the international monetary fund.

Both fund and bank were con-

Chamber Brings Bill Up to Brink Of Final Action, Then Halts Work

Amendment Makes 18 and 19-Year-Olds Again Subject to Call

PAY HIKE IS DESIGNED TO SPUR ENLISTMENTS

Privates Would Receive $75, Corporals $90, Sergeants $100

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—The Senate brought a teen-age inducting, pay-increasing draft bill up to the brink of final action tonight only to halt work abruptly till tomorrow.

Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) explained that several hours might be required to dispose of a substitute proposal by Sen. Revercomb (R-WVa) to continue Selective Service authority until May 15, 1947, but suspend all inductions until Congress ordered otherwise.

The Senate already had voted 53 to 26 to make 18 and 19-year-olds—now temporarily exempted—subject to call and had approved pay hikes for enlisted men when Sen. Gurney (R-SD), in charge of the bill, announced that it seemed impossible to get a final vote within a reasonable time.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC) protested vigorously against any delay, forcing a series of quorum calls.

Barkley finally moved to recess the Senate until 11 a. m. (EST) tomorrow and was sustained on a 45 to 17 roll call vote.

The pay boost, proposed by Sen. LaFollette (Prog-Wis) and Johnson (D-Colo) was designed to spur voluntary enlistments.

Privates Would Get $75

Pay of privates would be boosted from $50 a month to $75; privates first class from $54 to $80; corporals from $66 to $90; and sergeants from $78 to $100. Corresponding increases would be paid to marines and sailors.

These same increases had been voted by the House along with increases ranging from ten to twenty per cent for other non-commissioned and for commissioned officers.

The Senate, however, passed up the question of pay raises for commissioned officers and adopted a lower scale of monthly pay boosts for staff, technical and master sergeants and equivalent ranks in other services than approved by the House.

Sen. Gurney (R-SD) estimated the cost of the Senate-approved pay scale at $450,000,000, while Johnson placed the figure at $350,000,000.

The Senate Military committee had approved a lesser increase for

Tawes Is Confident He Will Win Nomination

BALTIMORE, June 4 (AP)—Confidently predicting victory in the three-way battle for the Democratic nomination for governor in the June 24 primary, J. Millard Tawes said tonight that "we want no parts of the Political Action Committee."

"I have said, and I repeat, no permanent good can come to the Democratic party by aligning itself with subversive elements, Communists or near Communists," Tawes declared in a statement.

"The people of Maryland want a conservative, business administration."

Tawes said his ticket would get sufficient margin in the counties along with the Baltimore city districts he claims to carry the state.

His running mates are Charles H. Roloson, Jr., Baltimore, for state comptroller, and W. Earle Cobey, of Western Maryland, for attorney general.

Government Announces Contract With GE for Atomic Development

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—A major step toward putting the atom to work for the benefit of humanity was taken tonight when the War department announced a contract with the General Electric Company for "an extensive research program" in atomic energy.

"Under the contract, GE will take over from E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company the operation of the government's $347,000,000 plant at Hanford, Wash., about September 1.

"It was at the urgent request of the government at a time of national emergency," the announcement said, "that the du Pont company undertook the design, construction and operation of the Hanford works.

"The work was undertaken with the intention expressed to the War department of retiring from the program as soon after the hostilities as was consistent with the government's plans. This decision was based on the fact that this program, in its peacetime aspects, lies primarily in the field of power generation and only to a limited extent in the chemical field in which du Pont has always worked. At the request of the army the contract for operation of Hanford was extended until December 31, 1946, with a provision that it could be terminated at an earlier date."

A statement by Charles E. Wilson, president of GE, said the company accepts the responsibility because "it is of tremendous importance to our national interest that we maintain and develop still further our country's preeminence" in the field of atomic energy, having in mind both its military applications and its tremendous peacetime potentialities as a power source and in other beneficient applications."

Knowland, Rogers Lead California Race; Folsom Is Alabama Winner

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Political Reporter

Initial returns—very fragmentary—from California's hot senatorial cross-filing primary last night (Tuesday) put incumbent Republican Sen. William F. Knowland in the lead for renomination in the Republican column and Will Rogers, Jr. ahead in the Democratic.

Rep. Ellis E. Patterson, Los Angeles Democrat, was running second for the senatorial nomination on the Democratic and third on the Republican ticket. Rogers was second in the Republican count and Knowland third in the Democratic.

Gov. Earl Warren, Republican seeking another four year term, led Democratic Attorney General Robert Kenny on the Republican ticket and trailed Kenny only slightly on the Democratic. California permits candidates to file on both tickets.

Other returns at midnight from yesterday's five-state primary balloting:

New Mexico—Sen. Dennis Chavez led Gov. John J. Dempsey by less than 400 votes for the Democratic senatorial nomination in returns from eighty-seven of 869 precincts.

Alabama — James E. (Big Jim) Folsom, 37-year-old war veteran who had CIO-PAC support, won the Democratic nomination for governor in a runoff with Lt. Gov. Handy Ellis. In Alabama a Democratic nomination means election. Rep. Luther Patrick, another CIO-PAC backed candidate, was defeated by Laurie C. Battle, ex-army major, in another runoff for the Democratic House nomination in the Ninth district.

New Jersey — Rep. Fred A. Hartley, Jr., overcame strong CIO-PAC opposition to win Republican renomination over Walter A. Schaefer,

Keller Is Injured When Hit by Car

George W. Keller, 73, 206 Bedford street, was injured Saturday about midnight when he was struck by a Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company car at the intersection of Bedford and Centre streets, police reported yesterday.

Detective Edwin R. Lilya said Brace E. Lee, 34, Route 1, Narrows Park, driver of the car, was making a left hand turn when Keller, Crossing Bedford street from the Sterling Electric Company to city hall, was hit and knocked down by the front bumper of the car.

Police said Keller, apparently unhurt, was taken to his home by the driver. Keller was later taken to Memorial hospital where he was treated for rib injuries and bruises on the right leg.

The driver reported it was raining and that visibility was low when the accident occurred.

Facsimile Message Is Radioed to Train

WASHINGTON, June 4. (AP)—Thirty persons on the Capital Limited travelling from Baltimore to Washington saw today the reception of the first transmission of a radio-facsimile message to a moving train.

The message, in the handwriting of Margaret Truman, was the same as that flashed over the same route 102 years ago by telegraph—"What hath God wrought."

Then, Inventor Samuel F. B. Morse sat in the capitol in Washington and tapped out that first telegraph message, which was routed over lines strung along the Baltimore and Ohio railroad's right-of-way.

Today, Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan sat in the same room of the capitol to start the transmission by facsimile.

Bowles Assails Price Control Legislation

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—Chester Bowles tonight assailed pending Senate price control legislation as a "monstrous thing" which would "be enough to wreck our hopes of stability and full production."

The stabilization director, in a blunt radio talk, asserted that a price law with amendments which have been approved by the Senate Banking committee "would be an outright fraud against the people of this country."

Addressing himself particularly to veterans and their families, Bowles said he will urge President Truman "with all the vigor at my command" to veto "in clear and ringing terms" any bill even resembling the previously-approved House measure or the Senate committee proposals.

EDGEWOOD, Md., June 4—(AP)—Two Edgewood Arsenal soldiers were killed today when a 160-gallon incendiary bomb was dropped because of a mechanical failure from an airplane and landed on a small building of the post headquarters group, army officials disclosed.

said in a statement released afterward.

The statement indicated their policy-governing scale committees were undertaking the task of forging a new contract for the 75,000 hard coal miners now idle in Pennsylvania.

It was the first indication from either side that progress had been made in their collective bargaining sessions, now nearly four weeks old.

"The conference adjourned early today so that both sides could meet with their scale committees," John Boylan, secretary of the anthracite conciliation board said, adding that the purpose of the committee meetings was "for clarification of points in the proposals."

"Definite progress has been made," he declared. "They will meet again tomorrow at 2 p. m. (EDT)."

The reference to the scale committee action indicated the subcommittee negotiators were getting down to cases after weeks of discussion in general terms.

The function of the scale committees is to consider proposals and counterproposals and pass upon them for the guidance of the negotiators. Their employment at this stage of the talks indicated the operators had made some concrete counteroffers to union demands.

Bomb Dropped by Plane Kills Two Soldiers At Edgewood Arsenal

EDGEWOOD, Md., June 4—(AP)—Two Edgewood Arsenal soldiers were killed today when a 160-gallon incendiary bomb was dropped because of a mechanical failure from an airplane and landed on a small building of the post headquarters group, army officials disclosed.

Col. James McCahan, Third service command public relations officer identified one of the dead soldiers as T-3 Jose M. Velardez, Isoleta, New Mexico.

said in a statement released afterward.

The statement indicated their policy-governing scale committees were undertaking the task of forging a new contract for the 75,000 hard coal miners now idle in Pennsylvania.

It was the first indication from either side that progress had been made in their collective bargaining sessions, now nearly four weeks old.

"The conference adjourned early today so that both sides could meet with their scale committees," John Boylan, secretary of the anthracite conciliation board said, adding that the purpose of the committee meetings was "for clarification of points in the proposals."

"Definite progress has been made," he declared. "They will meet again tomorrow at 2 p. m. (EDT)."

The reference to the scale committee action indicated the subcommittee negotiators were getting down to cases after weeks of discussion in general terms.

The function of the scale committees is to consider proposals and counterproposals and pass upon them for the guidance of the negotiators. Their employment at this stage of the talks indicated the operators had made some concrete counteroffers to union demands.

HAVE YOU LEARNED TO MAKE UP YOUR MIND?

Did you have a terrible time trying to decide whether you'll buy the blue hat or the brown, Mary? Do you get all rattled when they try to rush your vote on some business problems, Bill? Are you always choosing the wrong plan, or picking the wrong plan, and then wishing you hadn't?

Probably, if you're the average human, you are. And it's also possible that you think that difficult decisions are just a regular part of the pesky business of living. They aren't. Making decisions shouldn't be a burden to any adult. We can learn to decide quickly, without dawdling or friction or fuss, just as we can learn to walk or talk or use our hankies.

Why does it bother you to make decisions? Because part of you is still a baby A baby never knows what to grab. First he wants the red ball. Then he wants the yellow ball. And, whichever he gets he promptly wants the one he didn't. And generally ends up in a tantrum.

A baby can't help being that way. All the little mammals before him were that way. He's just starting to be human. He can't think like a man yet . . . he thinks like a mammal, in circles. Chases his feelings around like a puppy chases his tail. But he can be educated out of that, just as he can be educated into any other form of civilized practice.

You would have been saved endless trouble, perhaps real tragedy, in your personal life if you had been taught how to make up your mind. And you'll save your child that same trouble and tragedy if you'll teach him to make up his mind, right from the jump.

Make your youngster make up his mind, from the time he has a mind to make up. Make him choose between the ball and the yellow orange and then make him abide by his decision. Don't give him the red ball if he yells for it, after choosing the yellow orange. Make him accept the consequences of his own choice, for in no other way can he ever learn to make the right choice.

Make him make up his own mind and let him make up his own mind. You won't be hurt or bothered by his silly choices. But second-hand wisdom is as valueless to him as it is to you. Both you and he need to buy your own experience. We never learn what to pick unless we pay the bill.

The Serious German Occupation Tangle

ADDRESSING editors of the state the other day in Baltimore, Hamilton Owens, editor-in-chief of the Sunpapers, deplored the lack of coordination and unified policy in the government of occupied devastated Germany. He had but recently returned from a tour of the occupied zones. From the facts reported, it is obvious that, as Mr. Owens indicated, some corrective measures are in order.

It has been a year since the war against Germany ended and ten months since the four big powers at Pottsdam agreed that, after eliminating war-making facilities, they would restore Germany to economic unity as rapidly as conditions would allow. But the promise has not been fulfilled and the occupying powers have made little progress toward fulfillment, appearing to be unable to make decisions except by default.

The Pottsdam agreement specified that Germany should be treated as a single economic unit during the period of occupation, that Allied controls should be imposed upon its economy only to the extent necessary to produce a balanced economy and reduce the need for imports, and that reparations payments should leave enough resources to enable the German people to subsist without external assistance.

Appreciating the seriousness of the subject, the "Wall Street Journal" advances the opinion that the reparations idea is not only fallacious in itself, but is also "a convenient means by which any of the occupying powers can for its own nationalistic or ideological purposes delay a fulfillment of the obligations assumed at Pottsdam.

"We have mentioned Russia as coming under our suspicions," it continues, "but we have no desire to absolve any other member of the Big Four if any other is less than completely faithful to its pledge. The idea that a defeated aggressor should, in the language of the Potsdam agreement, 'be compelled to compensate to the greatest possible extent for the loss and suffering that she has caused,' rings with the sound of justice. But the defeated peoples must support themselves, be supported from without or become a physical and social pestilence.

"Potsdam adopted the rule that Germany's reparations forfeitures should be limited to such movable property as was not required to maintain her peacetime economy. But what disinterested authority is there which can effectively distinguish between war facilities and peace facilities and impose its judgment upon all four occupying powers? There is none. There is, instead, an abundance of private reports and semi-official intimations that in portions of Germany so-called reparations takings have included both equipment vital to her peacetime economy and things having no relation to war potential—in short, have been plain looting.

"It is no sentimental tenderness toward vanquished peoples but the pure self-interest of the victors that dictates abandonment of the reparations objective, not only with respect to Germany but everywhere else."

The New York paper suggests, accordingly, that Secretary Byrnes propose that short and simple revision of the Pottsdam agreement. Certainly something of a remedial nature is in order and while there may be opinion on the part of some that there should be reparations of some kind as a war-averting lesson, the proposal has some ground in the light of reported facts that Germany was so thoroughly devastated by the war that getting them now after its looting is pretty much like getting blood out of a turnip. But other steps toward a more unified economic policy appear necessary also.

The Red Tide Ebbs in Europe

THE REDS are losing out, and badly. The infiltration wing of the Moscow movement for world communism suffered a stunning setback in the elections just held in France when the Communist party, since the last election the nation's most powerful single party, was seized by the Popular Republican Movement. French voters on May 5 defeated a proposed constitution supported by the Communists.

Communist candidates received approximately one-third of the total number of votes cast, which would be alarming were the party on the upgrade. But observers believe that the Red tide reached its high water mark in 1945 and that two defeats for the Communists within a month presage a gradual swing from Red totalitarianism in France toward the old French precept of liberty.

This reversal comes on the heels of a marked defeat suffered by the Communists in the municipal elections held in the American zone in Germany, where they ran a poor third. This resut in the American zone had a counterpart in the earlier Berlin district elections, where the Social Democrats opposed union with the Communists. Earlier, too, the Communists had a setback in Greece.

All this is distinctly encouraging as it points to recession of a tide and to signs that Western Europe, at least, is arriving at some sound conclusions about the so-called Russian "Utopia" and its dictatorial system.

Food Subsidies Indefensible

IT IS EASY to understand why Price Administrator Bowles tries to shift the "blame" for the higher milk and butter prices he has put into effect. Naturally he would like to divert consumer protests to some other target.

Of course, he is justified in saying that higher prices are necessary to maintain production because of increased feed costs and, to a much lesser extent, because of the "apparent congressional determination to slash food subsidies." Farmers are paying more for feed and Congress is in no mood to prolong the dairy products subsidy, which is now running at the rate of 500 million dollars a year.

Mr. Bowles, his head in the sand as usual, has made it clear that he hopes the public will put pressure on Congress to continue the present subsidy. He says that further sharp increases in the prices of butter and milk will be necessary after July 1 if cuts are approved. The inference is that holding subsidy payments at their present levels is bad and that slashing them would be worse.

From his point of view that thesis may seem sound. But the arguments presented in behalf of subsidies during the war were far from convincing. They are absurd today. Living costs were to be held down during the conflict to keep wages in line—at the highest level in history—and things have not worked out as planned.

It is necessary to make a beginning at eliminating the subsidy program at some time because it adds to inflationary pressures and distorts normal price relationships, and subsidy payments can no longer be defended.

Another Serious Strike Looms

ONLY NOW getting its breath from one transportation tieup which was strangling the economy of the country, the American public is faced with the possibility of a strike by seamen's unions, which would still the engines of practically all the United States Merchant Marine. Here again, it will be the general public which will pay most, if and when the strike is called.

To Americans it would mean a temporary absence of many of the items of everyday living which are taken for granted. One might expect an early halt to such foodstuffs as sugar, coffee, bananas, spices. Many industries again would be compelled to shut down and once again the nation's limping reconversion would slow down to a mere dawdle.

Critical as the effects of this contemplated strike might be in America, the consequences abroad might be even more serious. The United States now owns two-thirds of the world's merchant shipping, which makes this nation the most important controlling factor in international trade. If American ships lie at their piers while negotiators wrangle over conference tables, the world is sure to suffer.

Joseph Curran, president of the powerful National Maritime Union, has given his assurance that relief and troop trains would go through as usual, but he has declined to comment on the possible disposition of vessels carrying mixed cargoes, both relief and commercial. This matter would be decided by local port committees. Here is ample room for controversy.

The participating maritime unions have set June 15 for strike action. America again is at the mercy of a few men.

What's Truman, who had his picture taken at the throttle of a locomotive several weeks ago, waiting for?

Pictures of Mahatma Gandi show him all dressed up. He now is carrying a watch.

Industrial Chaos Is Laid at Door Of the New Deal

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

In a near-revolutionary situation, one ought to do or say nothing that might aggravate the unrest. It would be smart if everyone were to "sleep on this thing" for a month, dig coal, run trains, keep the food flowing overseas, and thus earn the praise of even those with whom one has been in honest disagreement, as a "real guy." From this mutually earned gratitude of one for the other, Americans would reap substantial dividends.

It was thus that Lincoln wrote his magnificent First Inaugural. But times like these favor hot-headed men. It is also "the hour" or "der tag" Communists look forward to when they hope to accomplish in a few weeks what is otherwise impossible in decades.

Inflammatory Talk

Lincoln did not prevail in March, 1861, nor is it likely that moderation will prevail today. Mr. Whitney of the railroad trainmen, for example, says he will exhaust the coffers of the richest union in the world—$47,000,000—to defeat President Truman and those senators and congressmen—Democrats and Republicans alike—who refuse to bow to his will.

This is highly inflammatory talk. Moreover, we are likely to see radicals appealing to this hot spirit and cold cash in the primary and November elections this year. The number of "thousand percent labor" candidates is apt to increase in both parties.

If the coal strike is settled by the time this appears, we will be hard up against the maritime strike, now called for June 15. That will be largely unded the control of outright Communists, taking order, perhaps from some foreign capital.

In these months of turmoil which now threaten, every real American must come to the front.

Outcome Not in Doubt

I do not doubt the outcome. The real Americans who put their country first are in the vast majority, and they are waking from their slumbers. For a too-long time they have slept at their posts. They played bridge, or golf, or horseshoes on election day and looked down on sincere patriots as excitable children. "It can't happen here," they yawned.

The yawning days are over, my friends. When the president of the United States says that the government itself is in danger, he does not overstate the case.

This is no time to give aid and comfort to those who would blockade this nation in transportation, coal, ships, electricity, and other vital services. Yet, I repeat, the idea that this is simply the fault of a few labor leaders who ought to be jailed or tarred and feathered, or castor-oiled, a la Mussolini, gets us nowhere. We have to go back to causes, not results. We must recognize that New Deal policies made it impossible for such men not to come to the front. If everyone we cuss today were to vanish tonight, others—and probably worse ones—would take their places tomorrow.

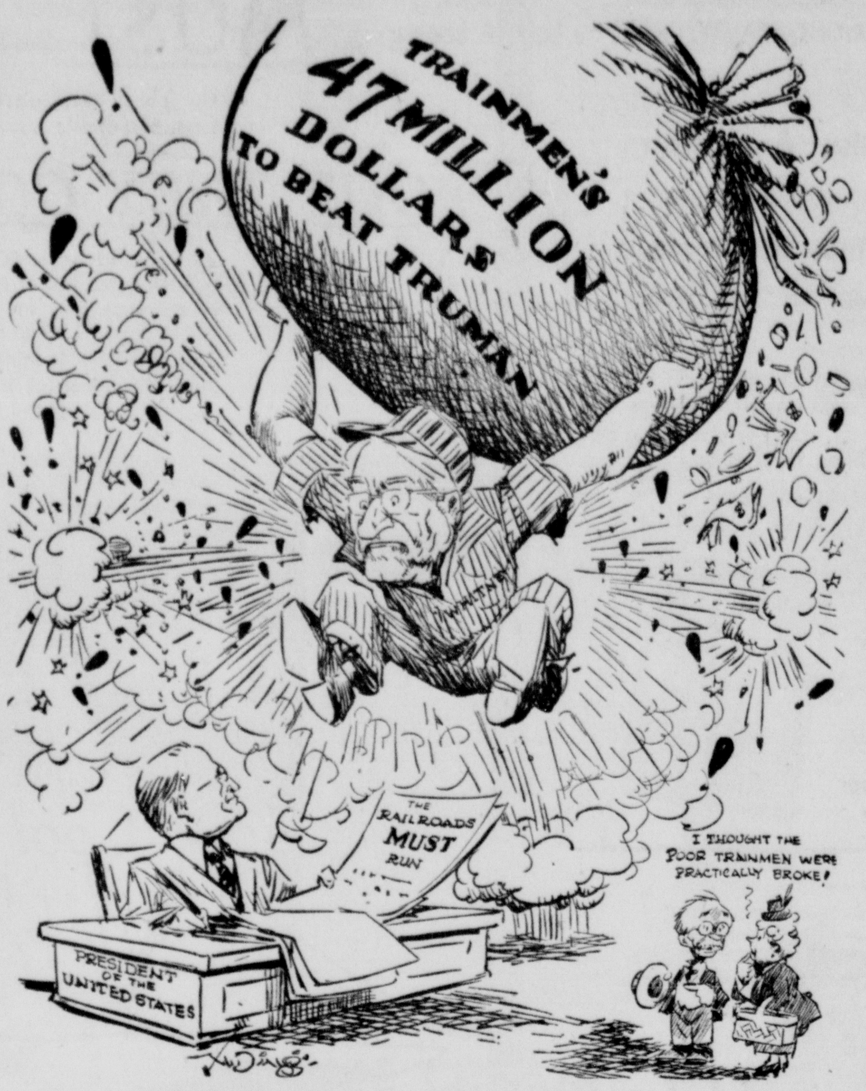
Premium on Rivalry

The New Deal gave them their power. The New Deal made it necessary for each of them to equal, if not out-bid, his rival on every penny of wage increase. It gave them prestige by inviting them to the White House as if they were the ambassadors of kings. It packed courts, boards, and commissions to bend the law and the constitution to win their favor. It traded them power, menacing to the Republic, for votes.

And even now the New Deal seeks only to build up the power of government to meet its favorites on equal terms, instead of building down the power of its Frankensteins over their creator.

The moderate Case bill would build down some of these powers. Will Mr. Truman veto that and call out the army instead?

"HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE"



THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Vandenberg Must Run for Re-election To Get In Trial Heats for Presidency

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, June 4—Erudite Sen. Vandenberg, of Michigan, not only has been doing a good job on foreign relations, but he takes it—and himself—seriously. Perhaps one is necessary to the other. Talking to a friend the other day, the Michigan senator opined:

"Well, we're getting along pretty well now that we have a Republican foreign policy."

"What do you mean?"

"Well, analyze it for yourself," shot back the man who may be the next GOP nominee. "It all goes back to my now somewhat famous speech of January 1945."

Note—Van claims he is getting bored with politics. "One question I can't answer to my wife's satisfaction," he says, "is why I'm running for re-election (as senator). I've threatened to divorce her if she asks me again." (The answer, of caurse, is that if Van doesn't run again for senator, he won't be in the trial heats for president.)

Russia's One-time Friend

How tragically the Russian situation has deteriorated is illustrated by Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson. Once the Soviet's most important friend in the State department, Acheson is now bitter against them.

Most people don't know that it was Acheson who first helped sell Secretary Byrnes on a conciliatory course toward Russia. Son of the Episcopalian bishop of Connecticut, Acheson argued that the Russians, despite all their bumptiousness and bad manners, would improve if we showed tolerance, patience. Now Acheson has been kicked in the teeth so often that, the other day, he remarked:

"The Soviet is like a sneak thief walking down the street trying door latches. If the police come along, they're merely walking down the street. But if they find a latch unlocked and the police aren't looking, they'll go in."

Senate Labor Rebellion

Deadliest backstage punches against President Truman's labor-draft program were scored by CIO President Phil Murray in a secret meeting held by the Senate Education and Labor committee.

Those present included Murray, Lew Hines, AFL legislative representative; Martin Miller, representing Al Whitney's railway trainmen; plus Sens. Jim Murray, of Montana, (chairman); David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts; Elbert Thomas, of Utah; Claude Pepper, of Florida; Lister Hill, of Alabama; Joe Guffey, of Pennsylvania, and Wayne Morse, of Oregon.

The CIO president got right down to cases.

"My organization has always followed President Truman's recommendations in labor disputes and the record proves it," Murray declared. "Look at the auto, steel and oil disputes. We went along with the fact-finding boards. In some cases we had to accept much below what we asked, but we did so patriotically.

"Can industry say as much?" Murray continued. "Look what happened during the auto strike. General Motors held out for months against the recommendations of Truman's fact-finding board, which labor was willing to accept. That was a case of management striking against the government, but did President Truman call for a joint session of Congress to upbraid General Motors officials as he did recently against labor? He did not."

No-Strike Pledge?

Then, with a scowl, the usually mild-mannered CIO boss acidly added:

"Did he offer legislation then to penalize and enslave all management as he did in this case against labor? Well, I don't remember reading anything about it."

Sen. Hill inquired if labor would be willing to offer Truman a compromise on the strike issue, such as a six-month, no-strike pledge.

"That is impossible, as far as the CIO is concerned," replied Murray emphatically. "My organization is run on democratic lines and such a pledge could never be enforced. When members of a CIO union are working under intolerable conditions, I couldn't dictate to them not to strike. Therefore, I would never agree to such a pledge."

Sumner Welles for U. N.

If President Truman accepts the advice of high-up friends and makes Sumner Welles United States delegate to the United Nations, it will not only rectify an old wrong, but also pick up a policy which Welles sold Roosevelt in 1943, but which has been allowed to lapse for three years—until last month.

This is the policy of writing the peace with all nations—big and little—sitting in. Secretary of State Byrnes finally came around to this idea only last month after his failure at Paris. Welles, however, had urged this on Roosevelt during the height of the war when the Russians still had their backs to the wall at Stalingrad and the British were still in their bombproof cellars. That was the time, Welles argued, when the terms of peace should be written.

Welles also sold Roosevelt on the idea that the small nations would be our best allies for permanent peace. They had the most to lose through war. Their territories were always laid waste. Therefore, not merely the Big Three or the Big Four or the Big Five, which are more likely to start wars, but the little nations which don't want war, Welles urged, should be included in the peace settlement.

Roosevelt agreed. But when Cordell Hull forced Welles's resignation and took his fateful trip to Moscow in the autumn of 1943, he forgot all about the little nations and set up a council of Big Four foreign ministers.

Later Roosevelt tried to pick up the ball by issuing a corrective statement after Hull's return from Moscow. The ball, however, was never really picked up, and the big powers have been bungling the peace of the world from that time on — until Jimmy Byrnes, after learning in the school of hard knocks, finally adopted Welles's idea following his return from Paris.

Trafic fact is that the peace of the world suffers while men in high places gradually gain experience.

New Chief Justice?

Inside reason why Truman is having such a hard time making up his mind regarding a new chief justice is the fact that he hates to spare Secretary of the Treasury Vinson from his official family.

Daily, Truman leans more and more on Vinson. Along with Jimmy Byrnes, he has the most all-round experience in the cabinet—service as a congressman, judge, economic stabilizer, war mobilizer, and head of the RFC. Vinson's ties with Capitol Hill today are even closer than those of Byrnes. Despite official statements to the contrary, the president has given serious consideration to Vinson as chief justice, but he hates to part with him.

Molotov Forgets Aid Given in War, Lawrence Says

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Of all the comments recently exchanged between spokesmen for Russia and the United States, none caused more poignant disappointment in official quarters here than the Russian foreign minister's curious question about Iceland.

The fact that a man as high up in the Russian government as Molotov should so soon forget the sacrifices made by American citizens to maintain a convoy route to Murmansk through the war and that any question should be asked now about the stratagic importance of Iceland has made a disturbing impression here.

Mr. Molotov said in his recent statement:

"For instance, what interests of the security of the U.S.A. dictate the demand for military bases in Iceland? Evidently what matters here is by no means the security of the U.S. but entirely different aspirations."

Memory Short

Have the Russian government's spokesmen already forgotten how the United States got supplies into Russia to help the Soviet stave off the Hitler armies? Do the Russian people know that Molotov is belittling the sacrifices of those brave American and British sailors who were killed or drowned as the nazi submarines made their attacks?

Do the Russians know that only when airplanes flying out of Iceland bases were able to destroy the German submarines the route to Northern Russia was made secure?

The Soviet rulers make a point always in diplomatic talks about the importance of getting Polish territory or areas of the Balkans in order to protect Russia against future German aggression. Has Molotov overlooked the fact that the Atlantic ocean still exists and that if there is a basis for believing there may be another war of German aggression, the northern waters of the Atlantic will need as much protection by the British and American navies in such a war as in the last war?

Decisive Factor

The air patrols out of Iceland were a decisive factor in rendering aid to Russia. Likewise American and British naval vessels operated out of Iceland against units of the German fleet. If the Iceland bases and patrols had not functioned effectively, munitions and supplies needed by Russia in the critical days of 1942, 1943 and 1944 might have been a serious blow to Stalin's defense against the Nazi invasion.

During the submarine operations the Nazis made many devastating attacks on British and American supply ships. In one or two instances as many as seventy and even eighty per cent of the British and American tonnage in the convoys went to the bottom with a heavy loss of life. The Russians had no navy to patrol the sea routes and they didn't even have airplanes to go out from Russian territory to escort and protect allied vessels destined for their northern ports.

The record of what happened in respect to Iceland is written in sad chapters that are known to the mothers and fathers and relatives of the American boys who made the supreme sacrifice in order to help Russia. The American government is determined not only that such sacrifices shall not have been made in vain but that in the future American shipping destined for European ports shall have airplane protection from Iceland against any aggressor that might arise in Germany. Surely the Russians upon reflection will realize that Molotov has made a serious blunder and that he has offended the American government by his naive and thoughtless remark.

Important for Future

In any future war airpower may play an even more controlling part than in any previous war in history. The United States stands committed to protect Russia and every other country which lives up to her obligations under the Atlantic Charter. The provincial attitude of the Russian spokesmen can only be explained by their utter unfamiliarity with what happened in the Atlantic as well as in Western Europe to win the war. Their sights have apparently been fixed on what happened in Eastern Europe but it was not believed here that the system of censorship and suppression had reached the point where the foreign minister of Russia has not even been informed of the part Iceland played in making the survival of Russian armies possible.

Certainly the United States wants bases in Iceland. It wants them to protect Russia as much as any other country and when the United Nations wants to take complete charge of the Iceland bases and assign them under the Security Council, America stands willing to give them up for that purpose. The United States wishes to help assure security of all members of the United Nations, including the security of the United States, which can be menaced if German planes or submarines should seek to use Iceland bases.

Never Say Die!

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

To many of us, these are troublesome and discouraging days. But, as Celia Thaxter, the poet, once wrote—and it's under the glass of my work desk, in her own handwriting: "The Sunrise never failed us yet."

When Emerson was but 38 years old he wrote: "I am Defeated all the time; yet to Victory I am born." The late Don Marquis brought out the same thought in a beautiful poem that appeared many years ago in Collier's Weekly, in which he stated that he was "full of New Beginnings."

The time NOT to give up is when you feel most like doing so! We make our most foolish mistakes while in an unhealthy mood. A very large number of our days are cloudy days, but, as someone has said, "the shadows will be behind you when you walk into the light." There is no law of nature, or of God, that suggests we stay in an unhappy or disturbed mood.

Ordered thinking is a rare art. Without it, we are apt, many times, to get off the right road and wander uselessly, cheated of that valuable, intangible thing that we know as Time. And Time is most precious, for we have only so much of it, meted out to us, in measured miles, in proportion to our ability to handle it.

We must all take to heart that fine saying of Emerson's quoted above: — "I am Defeated all the time; yet to Victory I am born."

Our leisure hours are those in which we build our reserves, creating new and noble resolves, and enriching our morale. We can do this if we continually say in our heart that we will go forward, that we will walk right past all failures—and never say die!

Discouragement is the lot of us all at times. We are human entities, of different castes, but from a standard mould. We are all akin. Which is one reason why we should never fight one another. The spiritual destruction in the world today is far more vast than all the blasting of bombs, terrible as this has been. To say that you will NOT be defeated is to dose yourself with the vitamin of Victory!

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Father Time has just given me his annual boot along life's road. I had a birthday. I'm not saying which birthday until I'm positive Congress has decided not to draft us teen-agers.

Some actors say they celebrate their birthdays, but I'm going to be truthful. I hid under the bed and held my breath until past noon.... hoping it would go away. But I had a typical Hollywood birthday . . . all my friends forgot it . . . and all my enemies remembered it.

I'm not saying performers are jealous of each other's ages, but I could tell which of the cards I received were from other actors. They all said, "Happy Birthday . . . and many more of them . . . soon!"

Dottie Lamour gave me a congratulatory kiss. All the other actresses around the studio would have done the same, but, by the time Dottie had revived me, it was too late.

My relatives all gave me nice, expensive presents. In fact, they're so expensive I don't know how I'll ever be able to pay for them.

I got a lot of cakes for my birthday. One was chocolate, one was angel food, and the rest were soap.

Paramount gave me a new contract. Well, it's practically new. They sent the old one out and had my tear stains dry-cleaned out. The studio had planned to give me the usual cake with a candle for each year, but they couldn't afford it. It wasn't that the candles cost so much . . . but when he heard about it, the man from Lloyd's jumped in and upped the fire insurance rates.

The Serious German Occupation Tangle

ADDRESSING editors of the state the other day in Baltimore, Hamilton Owens, editor-in-chief of the Sunpapers, deplored the lack of coordination and unified policy in the government of occupied devastated Germany. He had but recently returned from a tour of the occupied zones. From the facts reported, it is obvious that, as Mr. Owens indicated, some corrective measures are in order.

It has been a year since the war against Germany ended and ten months since the four big powers at Pottsdam agreed that, after eliminating war-making facilities, they would restore Germany to economic unity as rapidly as conditions would allow. But the promise has not been fulfilled and the occupying powers have made little progress toward fulfillment, appearing to be unable to make decisions except by default.

The Pottsdam agreement specified that Germany should be treated as a single economic unit during the period of occupation, that Allied controls should be imposed upon its economy only to the extent necessary to produce a balanced economy and reduce the need for imports, and that reparations payments should leave enough resources to enable the German people to subsist without external assistance.

Appreciating the seriousness of the subject, the "Wall Street Journal" advances the opinion that the reparations idea is not only fallacious in itself, but is also "a convenient means by which any of the occupying powers can for its own nationalistic or ideological purposes delay a fulfillment of the obligations assumed at Pottsdam.

"We have mentioned Russia as coming under our suspicions," it continues, "but we have no desire to absolve any other member of the Big Four if any other is less than completely faithful to its pledge. The idea that a defeated aggressor should, in the language of the Potsdam agreement, 'be compelled to compensate to the greatest possible extent for the loss and suffering that she has caused,' rings with the sound of justice. But the defeated peoples must support themselves, be supported from without or become a physical and social pestilence.

"Potsdam adopted the rule that Germany's reparations forfeitures should be limited to such movable property as was not required to maintain her peacetime economy. But what disinterested authority is there which can effectively distinguish between war facilities and peace facilities and impose its judgment upon all four occupying powers? There is none. There is, instead, an abundance of private reports and semi-official intimations that in portions of Germany so-called reparations takings have included both equipment vital to her peacetime economy and things having no relation to war potential—in short, have been plain looting.

"It is no sentimental tenderness toward vanquished peoples but the pure self-interest of the victors that dictates abandonment of the reparations objective, not only with respect to Germany but everywhere else."

The New York paper suggests, accordingly, that Secretary Byrnes propose that short and simple revision of the Pottsdam agreement. Certainly something of a remedial nature is in order and while there may be opinion on the part of some that there should be reparations of some kind as a war-averting lesson, the proposal has some ground in the light of reported facts that Germany was so thoroughly devastated by the war that getting them now after its looting is pretty much like getting blood out of a turnip. But other steps toward a more unified economic policy appear necessary also.

The Red Tide Ebbs in Europe

THE REDS are losing out, and badly. The infiltration wing of the Moscow movement for world communism suffered a stunning setback in the elections just held in France when the Communist party, since the last election the nation's most powerful single party, was seized by the Popular Republican Movement. French voters on May 5 defeated a proposed constitution supported by the Communists.

Communist candidates received approximately one-third of the total number of votes cast, which would be alarming were the party on the upgrade. But observers believe that the Red tide reached its high water mark in 1945 and that two defeats for the Communists within a month presage a gradual swing from Red totalitarianism in France toward the old French precept of liberty.

This reversal comes on the heels of a marked defeat suffered by the Communists in the municipal elections held in the American zone in Germany, where they ran a poor third. This result in the American zone had a counterpart in the earlier Berlin district elections, where the Social Democrats opposed union with the Communists. Earlier, too, the Communists had a setback in Greece.

All this is distinctly encouraging as it points to recession of a tide and to signs that Western Europe, at least, is arriving at some sound conclusions about the so-called Russian "Utopia" and its dictatorial system.

Food Subsidies Indefensible

IT IS EASY to understand why Price Administrator Bowles tries to shift the "blame" for the higher milk and butter prices he has put into effect. Naturally he would like to divert consumer protests to some other target.

Of course, he is justified in saying that higher prices are necessary to maintain production because of increased feed costs and, to a much lesser extent, because of the "apparent congressional determination to slash food subsidies." Farmers are paying more for feed and Congress is in no mood to prolong the dairy products subsidy, which is now running at the rate of 500 million dollars a year.

Mr. Bowles, his head in the sand as usual, has made it clear that he hopes the public will put pressure on Congress to continue the present subsidy. He says that further sharp increases in the prices of butter and milk will be necessary after July 1 if cuts are approved. The inference is that holding subsidy payments at their present levels is bad and that slashing them would be worse.

From his point of view that thesis may seem sound. But the arguments presented in behalf of subsidies during the war were far from convincing. They are absurd today. Living costs were to be held down during the conflict to keep wages in line—at the highest level in history—and things have not worked out as planned.

It is necessary to make a beginning at eliminating the subsidy program at some time because it adds to inflationary pressures and distorts normal price relationships, and subsidy payments can no longer be defended.

Another Serious Strike Looms

ONLY NOW getting its breath from one transportation tieup which was strangling the economy of the country, the American public is faced with the possibility of a strike by seamen's unions, which would still the engines of practically all the United States Merchant Marine. Here again, it will be the general public which will pay most, if and when the strike is called.

To Americans it would mean a temporary absence of many of the items of everyday living which are taken for granted. One might expect an early halt to such foodstuffs as sugar, coffee, bananas, spices. Many industries again would be compelled to shut down and once again the nation's limping reconversion would slow down to a mere dawdle.

Critical as the effects of this contemplated strike might be in America, the consequences abroad might be even more serious. The United States now owns two-thirds of the world's merchant shipping, which makes this nation the most important controlling factor in international trade. If American ships lie at their piers while negotiators wrangle over conference tables, the world is sure to suffer.

Joseph Curran, president of the powerful National Maritime Union, has given his assurance that relief and troop trains would go through as usual, but he has declined to comment on the possible disposition of vessels carrying mixed cargoes, both relief and commercial. This matter would be decided by local port committees. Here is ample room for controversy.

The participating maritime unions have set June 15 for strike action. America again is at the mercy of a few men.

What's Truman, who had his picture taken at the throttle of a locomotive several weeks ago, waiting for?

Pictures of Mahatma Gandi show him all dressed up. He now is carrying a watch.

Industrial Chaos Is Laid at Door Of the New Deal

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

In a near-revolutionary situation, one ought to do or say nothing that might aggravate the unrest. It would be smart if everyone were to "sleep on this thing" for a month, dig coal, run trains, keep the food flowing overseas, and thus earn the praise of even those with whom one has been in honest disagreement, as a "real guy." From this mutually earned gratitude of one for the other, Americans would reap substantial dividends.

It was thus that Lincoln wrote his magnificent First Inaugural. But times like these favor hot-headed men. It is also "the hour" or "der tag" Communists look forward to when they hope to accomplish in a few weeks what is otherwise impossible in decades.

Inflammatory Talk

Lincoln did not prevail in March, 1861, nor is it likely that moderation will prevail today. Mr. Whitney of the railroad trainmen, for example, says he will exhaust the coffers of the richest union in the world—$47,000,000—to defeat President Truman and those senators and congressmen—Democrats and Republicans alike—who refuse to bow to his will.

This is highly inflammatory talk. Moreover, we are likely to see radicals appealing to this hot spirit and cold cash in the primary and November elections this year. The number of "thousand percent labor" candidates is apt to increase in both parties.

If the coal strike is settled by the time this appears, we will be hard up against the maritime strike, now called for June 15. That will be largely under the control of outright Communists, taking order, perhaps from some foreign capital.

In these months of turmoil which now threaten, every real American must come to the front.

Outcome Not in Doubt

I do not doubt the outcome. The real Americans who put their country first are in the vast majority, and they are waking from their slumbers. For a too-long time they have slept at their posts. They played bridge, or golf, or horseshoes on election day and looked down on sincere patriots as excitable children. "It can't happen here," they yawned.

The yawning days are over, my friends. When the president of the United States says that the government itself is in danger, he does not overstate the case.

This is no time to give aid and comfort to those who would blockade this nation in transportation, coal, ships, electricity, and other vital services. Yet, I repeat, the idea that this is simply the fault of a few labor leaders who ought to be jailed or tarred and feathered, or castor-oiled, a la Mussolini, gets us nowhere. We have to go back to causes, not results. We must recognize that New Deal policies made it impossible for such men not to come to the front. If everyone we cuss today were to vanish tonight, others—and probably worse ones—would take their places tomorrow.

Premium on Rivalry

The New Deal gave them their power. The New Deal made it necessary for each of them to equal, if not out-bid, his rival on every penny of wage increase. It gave them prestige by inviting them to the White House as if they were the ambassadors of kings. It packed courts, boards, and commissions to bend the law and the constitution to win their favor. It traded them power, menacing to the Republic, for votes.

And even now the New Deal seeks only to build up the power of government to meet its favorites on equal terms, instead of building down the power of its Frankensteins over their creator.

The moderate Case bill would build down some of these powers. Will Mr. Truman veto that and call out the army instead?

"HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Vandenberg Must Run for Re-election To Get In Trial Heats for Presidency

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, June 4—Erudite Sen. Vandenberg, of Michigan, not only has been doing a good job on foreign relations, but he takes it—and himself—seriously. Perhaps one is necessary to the other. Talking to a friend the other day, the Michigan senator opined:

"Well, we're getting along pretty well now that we have a Republican foreign policy."

"What do you mean?"

"Well, analyze it for yourself," shot back the man who may be the next GOP nominee. "It all goes back to my now somewhat famous speech of January 1945."

Note—Van claims he is getting bored with politics. "One question I can't answer to my wife's satisfaction," he says, "is why I'm running for re-election (as senator). I've threatened to divorce her if she asks me again." (The answer, of caurse, is that if Van doesn't run again for senator, he won't be in the trial heats for president.)

Russia's One-time Friend

How tragically the Russian situation has deteriorated is illustrated by Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson. Once the Soviet's most important friend in the State department, Acheson is now bitter against them.

Most people don't know that it was Acheson who first helped sell Secretary Byrnes on a conciliatory course toward Russia. Son of the Episcopalian bishop of Connecticut, Acheson argued that the Russians, despite all their bumptiousness and bad manners, would improve if we showed tolerance, patience. Now Acheson has been kicked in the teeth so often that, the other day, he remarked:

"The Soviet is like a sneak thief walking down the street trying door latches. If the police come along, they're merely walking down the street. But if they find a latch unlocked and the police aren't looking, they'll go in."

Senate Labor Rebellion

Deadliest backstage punches against President Truman's labor-draft program were scored by CIO President Phil Murray in a secret meeting held by the Senate Education and Labor committee.

Those present included Murray, Lew Hines, AFL legislative representative; Martin Miller, representing Al Whitney's railway trainmen; plus Sens. Jim Murray, of Montana, (chairman); David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts; Elbert Thomas, of Utah; Claude Pepper, of Florida; Lister Hill, of Alabama; Joe Guffey, of Pennsylvania, and Wayne Morse, of Oregon.

The CIO president got right down to cases.

"My organization has always followed President Truman's recommendations in labor disputes and the record proves it," Murray declared. "Look at the auto, steel and oil disputes. We went along with the fact-finding boards. In some cases we had to accept much below what we asked, but we did so patriotically.

"Can industry say as much?" Murray continued. "Look what happened during the auto strike. General Motors held out for months against the recommendations of Truman's fact-finding board, which labor was willing to accept. That was a case of management striking against the government, but did President Truman call for a joint session of Congress to upbraid General Motors officials as he did recently against labor? He did not."

No-Strike Pledge?

Then, with a scowl, the usually mild-mannered CIO boss acidly added:

"Did he offer legislation then to penalize and enslave all management as he did in this case against labor? Well, I don't remember reading anything about it."

Sen. Hill inquired if labor would be willing to offer Truman a compromise on the strike issue, such as a six-month, no-strike pledge.

"That is impossible, as far as the CIO is concerned," replied Murray emphatically. "My organization is run on democratic lines and such a pledge could never be enforced. When members of a CIO union are working under intolerable conditions, I couldn't dictate to them not to strike. Therefore, I would never agree to such a pledge."

Sumner Welles for U. N.

If President Truman accepts the advice of high-up friends and makes Sumner Welles United States delegate to the United Nations, it will not only rectify an old wrong, but also pick up a policy which Welles sold Roosevelt in 1943, but which has been allowed to lapse for three years—until last month.

Therefore, not merely the Big Three or the Big Four or the Big Five, which are more likely to start wars, but the little nations which don't want war, Welles urged, should be included in the peace settlement.

Roosevelt agreed. But when Cordell Hull forced Welles's resignation and took his fateful trip to Moscow in the autumn of 1943, he forgot all about the little nations and set up a council of Big Four foreign ministers.

Later Roosevelt tried to pick up the ball by issuing a corrective statement after Hull's return from Moscow. The ball, however, was never really picked up, and the big powers have been bungling the peace of the world from that time on — until Jimmy Byrnes, after learning in the school of hard knocks, finally adopted Welles's idea following his return from Paris.

Trafic fact is that the peace of the world suffers while men in high places gradually gain experience.

Have the Russian government's spokesmen already forgotten how the United States got supplies into Russia to help the Soviet stave off the Hitler armies? Do the Russian people know that Molotov is belittling the sacrifices of those brave American and British sailors who were killed or drowned as the nazi submarines made their attacks?

Do the Russians know that only when airplanes flying out of Iceland bases were able to destroy the German submarines the route to Northern Russia was made secure?

The Soviet rulers make a point always in diplomatic talks about the importance of getting Polish territory or areas of the Balkans in order to protect Russia against future German aggression. Has Molotov overlooked the fact that the Atlantic ocean still exists and that if there is a basis for believing there may be another war of German aggression, the northern waters of the Atlantic will need as much protection by the British and American navies in such a war as in the last war?

Decisive Factor

The air patrols out of Iceland were a decisive factor in rendering aid to Russia. Likewise American and British naval vessels operated out of Iceland against units of the German fleet. If the Iceland bases and patrols had not functioned effectively, munitions and supplies needed by Russia in the critical days of 1942, 1943 and 1944 might have been a serious blow to Stalin's defense against the Nazi invasion.

During the submarine operations the Nazis made many devastating attacks on British and American supply ships. In one or two instances as many as seventy and even eighty per cent of the British and American tonnage in the convoys went to the bottom with a heavy loss of life. The Russians had no navy to patrol the sea routes and they didn't even have airplanes to go out from Russian territory to escort and protect allied vessels destined for their northern ports.

The record of what happened in respect to Iceland is written in sad chapters that are known to the mothers and fathers and relatives of the American boys who made the supreme sacrifice in order to help Russia. The American government is determined not only that such sacrifices shall not have been made in vain but that in the future American shipping destined for European ports shall have airplane protection from Iceland against any aggressor that might arise in Germany. Surely the Russians upon reflection will realize that Molotov has made a serious blunder and that he has offended the American government by his naive and thoughtless remark.

Important for Future

In any future war airpower may play an even more controlling part than in any previous war in history. The United States stands committed to protect Russia and every other country which lives up to her obligations under the Atlantic Charter. The provincial attitude of the Russian spokesmen can only be explained by their utter unfamiliarity with what happened in the Atlantic as well as in Western Europe to win the war. Their sights have apparently been fixed on what happened in Eastern Europe but it was not believed here that the system of censorship and suppression had reached the point where the foreign minister of Russia has not even been informed of the part Iceland played in making the survival of Russian armies possible.

Certainly the United States wants bases in Iceland. It wants them to protect Russia as much as any other country and when the United Nations wants to take complete charge of the Iceland bases and assign them under the Security Council, America stands willing to give them up for that purpose. The United States wishes to help assure security of all members of the United Nations, including the security of the United States, which can be menaced if German planes or submarines should seek to use Iceland bases.

Never Say Die!

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

To many of us, these are troublesome and discouraging days. But, as Celia Thaxter, the poet, once wrote—and it's under the glass of my work desk, in her own handwriting: "The Sunrise never failed us yet."

When Emerson was but 38 years old he wrote: "I am Defeated all the time; yet to Victory I am born." The late Don Marquis brought out the same thought in a beautiful poem that appeared many years ago in Collier's Weekly, in which he stated that he was "full of New Beginnings."

The time NOT to give up is when you feel most like doing so! We make our most foolish mistakes while in an unhealthy mood. A very large number of our days are cloudy days, but, as someone has said, "the shadows will be behind you when you walk into the light." There is no law of nature, or of God, that suggests we stay in an unhappy or disturbed mood.

Ordered thinking is a rare art. Without it, we are apt, many times, to get off the right road and wander uselessly, cheated of that valuable, intangible thing that we know as Time. And Time is most precious, for we have only so much of it, meted out to us, in measured miles, in proportion to our ability to handle it.

We must all take to heart that fine saying of Emerson's quoted above: — "I am Defeated all the time; yet to Victory I am born."

Our leisure hours are those in which we build our reserves, creating new and noble resolves, and enriching our morale. We can do this if we continually say in our heart that we will go forward, that we will walk right past all failures—and never say die!

Discouragement is the lot of us all at times. We are human entities, of different castes, but from a standard mould. We are all akin. Which is one reason why we should never fight one another. The spiritual destruction in the world today is far more vast than all the blasting of bombs, terrible as this has been. To say that you will NOT be defeated is to dose yourself with the vitamin of Victory!

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Father Time has just given me his annual boot along life's road. I had a birthday. I'm not saying which birthday until I'm positive Congress has decided not to draft us teen-agers.

Some actors say they celebrate their birthdays, but I'm going to be truthful. I hid under the bed and held my breath until past noon.... hoping it would go away. But I had a typical Hollywood birthday . . . all my friends forgot it . . . and all my enemies remembered it.

I'm not saying performers are jealous of each other's ages, but I could tell which of the cards I received were from other actors. They all said, "Happy Birthday . . . and many more of them . . . soon!"

Dottie Lamour gave me a congratulatory kiss. All the other actresses around the studio would have done the same, but, by the time Dottie had revived me, it was too late.

My relatives all gave me nice, expensive presents. In fact, they're so expensive I don't know how I'll ever be able to pay for them.

I got a lot of cakes for my birthday. One was chocolate, one was angel food, and the rest were soap.

Paramount gave me a new contract. Well, it's practically new. They sent the old one out and had my tear stains dry-cleaned out. The studio had planned to give me the usual cake with a candle for each year, but they couldn't afford it. It wasn't that the candles cost so much . . . but when he heard about it, the man from Lloyd's jumped in and upped the fire insurance rates.

Contact Lenses Are Invisible Aid To Better Vision

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Glasses, when needed to correct troubles of the eyes or faulty vision, are a boon to most of us, yet a bespectacled actress might suffer a fatal professional handicap. The same thing is true of dancers, and even public speakers might find glasses inconvenient. Wearing glasses would be definitely dangerous to football players, boxers or chemical workers.

Modern medicine has found the answer to this problem in one of its most interest-provoking achievements—contact lenses. These lenses, which do away with the need for ordinary glasses, are fitted under the eyelids and over the eyes in such a way as to be invisible.

Worn by Thousands

Brought out about twenty years ago, contact lenses are now worn, according to Dr. Thomas Augustus Griffith, of Kentucky, by about 10,000 people in the United States. There is one type of eye disorder in which they are found particularly effective. This is known as keratoconus in which there is a cone shape of the front part of the cornea or eyeball.

The contact lenses may also be used effectively in cases of severe astigmatism in which the eyeball is misshapen. They can also be worn following the removal of a cataract or harden lens. They are also used when one eye requires much greater correction than the other.

Cause Unknown

The cause of keratoconus is not known. It interferes greatly with eyesight on account of scarring of the cornea and the great amount of nearsightedness. The condition always affects both eyes but may start in one and progress to the other. Dr. Griffith has worn contact lenses himself for a period of three years or more.

In wearing a contact lens a fluid made up of salt and soda in water is employed. After a period of three or four hours the fluid may become cloudy, and the lens must be removed and fresh fluid put in.

These lenses, of course, must be fitted by the doctor but the patient soon can learn to remove and reinsert the lens. In fact, Dr. Griffith says that it requires only about ten minutes.

The lenses cannot be worn continuously. Such symptoms as slight burning of the lids may develop after a time. When this happens the lenses should be removed and the eyes given a chance to rest.

Local Couple Return From Sailing Yacht Trip

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Muma Have 1,500 Film of 4,000 Mile Cruise

Harold H. Muma, Cumberland real estate man, accompanied by Mrs. Muma, Grey Gables apartments, Braddock road, has returned from a "busman's holiday" he took following his discharge from three years service as an ensign in the coast guard. Arriving in Baltimore Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Muma went immediately to Deep Creek Lake for the weekend. The former is commodore of the Deep Creek Yacht Club.

Aboard an auxiliary ketch, a thirty-one foot sailing yacht, which is the smallest sea worthy boat, Mr. and Mrs. Muma took an eight months cruise along the Atlantic coast, around the Florida Keys and through the Gulf of Mexico, as far north as Sarasota.

Highlights of the trip, which logged almost 4,000 miles, were sailing down the Saint Lucy river to the Gulf of Mexico to Sanibelle island; visiting the island of Captiva, where Gaspirello kept the women he captured when he raided the English ships and Charlotte harbor, where the men were held captive.

Caloosahachee river, known as "gypsy water," is without a doubt one of the most beautiful scenes in the world, Mr. Muma said last evening in discussing the trip. It is a combination of smells of orange blossoms and other flowers; a riot of plant life and color, where brilliant red orchids grow in the trunks of the palm trees; and the bird life is most interesting and the plumage of the egrets gorgeous.

Dispite the barracudas and sharks Mr. and Mrs. Muma swam as well as did some fishing, oystering and crabbing while on their vacation. They visited Lake Okashobe, the largest fresh water body totally in the boundary of the United States, and reputed best for bass fishing in the states. From there they went up the St. Lucia river to the inlet and took the inter coastal water way to Baltimore.

The happiest kind of life he considered would be to spend three or four months in the winter in Florida and the remainder of the year at Deep Creek Lake, Mr. Muma said last evening. He expressed his disappointment however to discover that most of the boats at the lake were sold when their owners entered the service, expecting to purchase new ones after their discharge. Since they are not available now Mr. Muma said last evening that the club will be used this summer merely to reorganize and get a fleet of boats ready for next year. However he will be able to review his holiday with pictures having taken fifteen hundred 35 m.m. Kodachrome film of it. While in Florida he had a chance meeting with an old friend of former commodore John Mordock, Hank Warren, of Jacksonville, who used to race Mordock with motor yachts on the Great Lakes.

Mr. Muma is planning a cruise for next winter through the Caribbean to Cuba, through the atolls off Florida and to Dry Fortugas island, where Dr. Mudd was held prisoner, he said last evening.

Best on all counts— that's why housewives "cook with Gas" results—tasty, nutritious dishes, with full protection of food values. Gas takes the guesswork out of meal preparation.

economy—Most homes cook a month's meals—three "squares" a day—for less than a dollar. No other source of cooking energy can even approach that figure and still bring you the superior advantages of cooking with Gas.

dependability—Day or night, summer or winter, Gas is the most reliable source of heat for any cooking requirement—from a quick, after-theater snack to a bountiful Sunday dinner.

cleanliness—Gas cooking is clean—leaving pots and pans clean; and the Gas Range is simplicity itself to keep bright and sparkling; parts are easily removed for cleaning, replaced in a jiffy.

accurate automatic control—You can secure just the right temperature for any specific cooking or baking job, and your Gas Range will maintain that temperature for as long as it is required. With "clock-control" Gas cooking you adjust the range controls and forget the meal until it is ready to serve.

It all adds up to the fact that the modern Gas Range is the best cooking appliance ever designed. Get set to make this summer the most carefree you have ever enjoyed by inquiring at your Gas Appliance Dealer or Gas Company Office about the new models.

Girl of 21 Can't Make Up Her Mind Which Man To Wed

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Shall a girl, against her family's wishes, marry the man who is her first choice and take a chance that they will grow to like him later? Or shall she marry the man they favor, of whom she is fond but whom she doesn't love, and take a chance that she'll come to love him in time?

Either way there's a risk to be taken and a chance to be gambled on. Which way is the risk less, and the chance of happiness greater?

That's the dilemma faced by the girl who writes:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I am a young girl of 21. When I was 16 years old, I started going steady with a fellow the same age. I saw him constantly for two years, and then he went in the service. I stayed true to him for the following two years and then started going out with another fellow whom I grew to love. He is fourteen years older than I, and has been divorced.

"Two months ago my childhood sweetheart came home from the service. My family is very attached to this fellow, and took it for granted we would be married. I know I don't love him enough to be happy with him as long as this other fellow is always in my mind.

"My problem is this: Both of these fellows love me very much, but they have left the decision to me. My family won't go halfway and meet the older man simply because he's divorced. I'd like to know if I should go against my family's wishes and marry the fellow I love (which would mean the loss of my family) or marry my childhood sweetheart, of whom I am very fond.

"BETWIXT AND BETWEEN"

Are you perfectly certain it is only the older man's divorce to which your family object? Is it possible that they might see in him some qualities that you have failed to see, but which they fear might work against your happiness if you were married to him? Do you know why he was divorced? If some serious fault of his, or some fundamental weakness in his character was the cause, then I think your family would certainly be justified in warning you against marrying him. You should find out about this before going any further, if you haven't done so already.

Perhaps, too, your family may feel that you would be happier with someone closer to your own age. Nobody can lay down any rules on the matter of age differences between husbands and wives. It depends entirely upon individual tastes and temperaments. But when a girl's in her early twenties, an older man often looks glamorous to her—much more glamorous than when she's still only 35, and he's her 50-year-old husband. You want to think about that, too, you know.

If, however, there seems to be nothing against this man except the mere fact that he is divorced, perhaps in time you can win your family over—unless, of course, their objections are based on religious grounds, in which case, it's a thornier problem.

But in any event, my advice to you would be to wait awhile before making any definite decision, and in the meantime to try to keep as open a mind as you can about both men. After all, you've known the younger one a long time, and undoubtedly know much more about his chances of making a good husband than you do about the other. You're still very young. Don't be in a hurrry about something on which your whole future depends.

"UNBLOCK" your DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when it gets blocked it fails to digest properly.

Girl of 21 Can't Make Up Her Mind Which Man To Wed

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Shall a girl, against her family's wishes, marry the man who is her first choice and take a chance that they will grow to like him later? Or shall she marry the man they favor, of whom she is fond but whom she doesn't love, and take a chance that she'll come to love him in time?

Either way there's a risk to be taken and a chance to be gambled on. Which way is the risk less, and the chance of happiness greater?

That's the dilemma faced by the girl who writes:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I am a young girl of 21. When I was 16 years old, I started going steady with a fellow the same age. I saw him constantly for two years, and then he went in the service. I stayed true to him for the following two years and then started going out with another fellow whom I grew to love. He is fourteen years older than I, and has been divorced.

"Two months ago my childhood sweetheart came home from the service. My family is very attached to this fellow, and took it for granted we would be married. I know I don't love him enough to be happy with him as long as this other fellow is always in my mind.

"My problem is this: Both of these fellows love me very much, but they have left the decision to me. My family won't go halfway and meet the older man simply because he's divorced. I'd like to know if I should go against my family's wishes and marry the fellow I love (which would mean the loss of my family) or marry my childhood sweetheart, of whom I am very fond.

"BETWIXT AND BETWEEN"

Are you perfectly certain it is only the older man's divorce to which your family object? Is it possible that they might see in him some qualities that you have failed to see, but which they fear might work against your happiness if you were married to him? Do you know why he was divorced? If some serious fault of his, or some fundamental weakness in his character was the cause, then I think your family would certainly be justified in warning you against marrying him. You should find out about this before going any further, if you haven't done so already.

Perhaps, too, your family may feel that you would be happier with someone closer to your own age. Nobody can lay down any rules on the matter of age differences between husbands and wives. It depends entirely upon individual tastes and temperaments. But when a girl's in her early twenties, an older man often looks glamorous to her—much more glamorous than when she's still only 35, and he's her 50-year-old husband. You want to think about that, too, you know.

If, however, there seems to be nothing against this man except the mere fact that he is divorced, perhaps in time you can win your family over—unless, of course, their objections are based on religious grounds, in which case, it's a thornier problem.

But in any event, my advice to you would be to wait awhile before making any definite decision, and in the meantime to try to keep as open a mind as you can about both men. After all, you've known the younger one a long time, and undoubtedly know much more about his chances of making a good husband than you do about the other. You're still very young. Don't be in a hurrry about something on which your whole future depends.

Market Has Another Losing Session; Late Support Steadies Most Groups

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—The stock market went through another slow losing session today but a little support arrived in the final hour and steadied virtually all groups.

Customers generally inclined to cash profits on the persistent idea that a technical correction of the climb to fifteen-year peaks was inevitable if the bull market were to retain its health. The labor situation, on the whole, still was a bearish factor. Good dividends and earnings bolstered individual favorites.

Of 999 issues registering, 598 fell and 212 rose. Transfers totalled 1,210,000 shares, the same as Monday which were the smallest since May 24.

Schenley added one and seven-eighths at $85.75, Allied Stores seven-eighths at $60.87, American Water Works seven-eighths at $28.37 and Sunshine Mining three-fourths at $22. Holding modest improvements were Woolworth, Studebaker, Consolidated Edison, Electric Power and Light, Standard Oil (NJ) Southern Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio and Maytag.

Abraham and Straus common, on a ten-share sale, examplified the "thinness" of the market by dropping ten points to $150. Lesser casualties were United States Rubber, Goodrich, Goodyear, Santa Fe, Great Northern, United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge, Douglas Aircraft, General Electric, Philip Morris Texas Company and United States Gypsum.

Ahead in the Curb were Cities Service, Electric Bond and Share, Casco Products and Muskegon. On the offside were Raytheon, North American Light, St. Regis Paper and Niagara Hudson Power. Turnover here was 470,000 shares versus 580,000 yesterday.

Rail issues took a downhill route in the bond market. Utility and industrial groups held steady.

Losers included Baltimore and Ohio stamped "C"s at 95½.

Western Maryland 4s at 108½ headed against the trend for small gains.

United States governments wobbled after a steady start. At the finish the longer maturities were off as much as five-thirty-seconds of a point in the over-the-counter market.

Turnover of $4,304,000 compared with $4,120,000 Monday.

Market Has Another Losing Session; Late Support Steadies Most Groups

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—The stock market went through another slow losing session today but a little support arrived in the final hour and steadied virtually all groups.

Customers generally inclined to cash profits on the persistent idea that a technical correction of the climb to fifteen-year peaks was inevitable if the bull market were to retain its health. The labor situation, on the whole, still was a bearish factor. Good dividends and earnings bolstered individual favorites.

Of 999 issues registering, 598 fell and 212 rose. Transfers totalled 1,210,000 shares, the same as Monday which were the smallest since May 24.

Schenley added one and seven-eighths at $85.75, Allied Stores seven-eighths at $60.87, American Water Works seven-eighths at 28.37 and Sunshine Mining three-fourths at $22. Holding modest improvements were Woolworth, Studebaker, Consolidated Edison, Electric Power and Light, Standard Oil (NJ) Southern Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio and Maytag.

Abraham and Straus common, on a ten-share sale, examplified the "thinness" of the market by dropping ten points to $150. Lesser casualties were United States Rubber, Goodrich, Goodyear, Santa Fe, Great Northern, United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge, Douglas Aircraft, General Electric, Philip Morris Texas Company and United States Gypsum.

Ahead in the Curb were Cities Service, Electric Bond and Share, Casco Products and Muskegon. On the offside were Raytheon, North American Light, St. Regis Paper and Niagara Hudson Power. Turnover here was 470,000 shares versus 580,000 yesterday.

Rail issues took a downhill route in the bond market. Utility and industrial groups held steady.

Losers included Baltimore and Ohio stamped "C"s at 95½.

Western Maryland 4s at 108½ headed against the trend for small gains.

United States governments wobbled after a steady start. At the finish the longer maturities were off as much as five-thirty-seconds of a point in the over-the-counter market.

Turnover of $4,304,000 compared with $4,120,000 Monday.

State Firemen To Hold Golden Jubilee Meeting

FREDERICK, Md., June 4 (AP)—The Maryland State Firemen's Association is all set for its golden jubilee convention, postponed for four years because of the war.

This will be the fifty-fourth annual meeting of the organization, but because of the war the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the association was postponed until this year.

The convention will open at 2 p. m. June 19 and close the afternoon of June 21 with a parade to be followed by a fireworks display and the annual ball.

Among the speakers to be heard are Gov. O'Conor; State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor; Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland, and Dr. Ignatius Bjorlee, superintendent of the Maryland State School for the Deaf.

Convention highlights include the annual memorial service the morning of June 20, a picnic that afternoon and a meeting of the First Chiefs' Association the morning of June 21.

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

Parking will only be permitted on Johnson street between Vine and Walnut street which will be about middle ways of the block.

The consumption of water being used at Bloomington and furnished by Westernport was discussed. The mayor and commissionrs feel that more water is passing through the meter than would be normal to supply the sixty-two water takers.

Parsons Publisher Indicted for Rape By Grand Jury

Town Election Held; Mayor James Parsons Named to Third Term

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va., June 4—Russell Kenneth McClain, 37, publisher and editor of the Parsons Advocate, was indicted today by the Tucker County Grand jury on a charge of attempted rape.

McClain is charged with attacking an 18-year-old girl, identified by Sheriff O. G. Hovatter as Miss Katherine Arbogast, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Arbogast.

The incident allegedly took place March 30, in a rear room of the newspaper office. Sheriff Hovatter said the girl, a graduate of Parsons high school in 1945, was employed on a part-time basis at the Parsons Advocate office as a stenographer at the time.

men in the lowest four grades starting at $65 a month for privates and apprentice seamen and Gurney attempted to amend this to provide increases for officers but the Senate instead accepted the substitute.

The only opposing votes were those of Sen. Ball (R-Minn), Hart (R-Conn), Thomas (D-Utah) and Gurney.

Ban Induction of Fathers

On a standing vote, the Senate accepted an amendment by Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash) which would give special deferments to scientific students in accredited schools. Sen. Austin (R-Vt) said there is ample provision in the law for deferring essential scientists.

The Senate, by voice vote, also wrote into the bill a prohibition against induction of men with dependent children, including foster or adopted children.

Then the chamber drove on toward a vote on the broader controversy over extending the Selective Service act until May 15, 1947, or depending upon volunteer enlistments alone.

The decision on the teen-agers came when the Senate approved an amendment by Sen. Gurney (R-SD), who said induction of the youths was necessary if fathers and persons who have served in the armed forces more than eighteen months are to be discharged this fall.

If the extension measure itself wins Senate passage, it mut return to the House for action. That branch, in voting the draft a nine-month lease on life, decided to exempt the teen-agers.

Meantime Selective Service is operating under a temporary extension until July 1. This stop-gap measure provides that eighten and ninteen-year-old youths shall not be inducted, a stipulation that was inserted on the insistence of a House majority.

He said Britain was willing to see the Saar go to France, but that it looked upon the Ruhr valley as a great potential for peace and raising standards of living throughout Europe. Parsons Publisher Indicted for Rape By Grand Jury

Town Election Held; Mayor James Parsons Named to Third Term

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va., June 4—Russell Kenneth McClain, 37, publisher and editor of the Parsons Advocate, was indicted today by the Tucker County Grand jury on a charge of attempted rape.

McClain is charged with attacking an 18-year-old girl, identified by Sheriff O. G. Hovatter as Miss Katherine Arbogast, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Arbogast.

The incident allegedly took place March 30, in a rear room of the newspaper office. Sheriff Hovatter said the girl, a graduate of Parsons high school in 1945, was employed on a part-time basis at the Parsons Advocate office as a stenographer at the time.

Parsons Elected Mayor

James W. Parsons, who served two previous terms as mayor, was elected mayor for a third term at the annual city election today.

Following an amendment passed recently by the city council, officers elected today will serve for two years instead of the former one-year term. They will take office July 1.

Tracy Nestor, running on the Citizens ticket, defeated Winfred Murphy, present incumbent, for the office of recorder, by a vote of 241 to 156.

men in the lowest four grades starting at $65 a month for privates and apprentice seamen and Gurney attempted to amend this to provide increases for officers but the Senate instead accepted the substitute.

The only opposing votes were those of Sen. Ball (R-Minn), Hart (R-Conn), Thomas (D-Utah) and Gurney.

Ban Induction of Fathers

On a standing vote, the Senate accepted an amendment by Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash) which would give special deferments to scientific students in accredited schools. Sen. Austin (R-Vt) said there is ample provision in the law for deferring essential scientists.

The Senate, by voice vote, also wrote into the bill a prohibition against induction of men with dependent children, including foster or adopted children.

Then the chamber drove on toward a vote on the broader controversy over extending the Selective Service act until May 15, 1947, or depending upon volunteer enlistments alone.

The decision on the teen-agers came when the Senate approved an amendment by Sen. Gurney (R-SD), who said induction of the youths was necessary if fathers and persons who have served in the armed forces more than eighteen months are to be discharged this fall.

If the extension measure itself wins Senate passage, it mut return to the House for action. That branch, in voting the draft a nine-month lease on life, decided to exempt the teen-agers.

Meantime Selective Service is operating under a temporary extension until July 1. This stop-gap measure provides that eighten and ninteen-year-old youths shall not be inducted, a stipulation that was inserted on the insistence of a House majority.

Six Persons Are Hurt In Harpers Ferry Crash

HARPERS FERRY, W. Va., June 4 (AP) — Six persons, including three soldiers, were injured yesterday when their automobile crashed into a stone railroad abutment on a hill in Harpers Ferry.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mercer and son Philip, Kabletown, were taken to Charles town hospital for treatment after the mishap, blamed on a mechanical failure.

The three soldiers, who were picked up on the highway, were sent to the army's Newton D. Baker general hospital near Martinsburg.

Enroute Home

Pfc. Frederick S. Cashman, Cresaptown, and T-4 Bernard Gonder, Jr., Oakland, are among eighteen army enlisted men from Maryland who sailed from Leghorn, Italy, May 23, aboard the SS. General Muir en route to the port of New York and separation from the army.

Locksmith Kept Busy

HAGERSTOWN, Md., June 4 (AP)—Locksmith Carl J. Schlotterbeck claims his business is on the upswing because of the housing shortage and the turnover in used cars.

Doubling up on families in one house or apartment means more keys, he explains, and so does the transfer of used automobiles, because he says keys are always lost or misplaced in the process.

In addition to turning out new keys, Schlotterbeck opens an average of one safe each day. He claims it's easy—he's never had to "blow" a safe with nitro.

FINAL GAME
Thursday—LaSalle at Hyndman

Sid Weinbach turned in his seventh straight pitching triumph yesterday in besting Pat Creegan in a duel between lefthanders as Allegany high school's championship team concluded its 1946 campaign with a 2 to 1 decision over LaSalle high school at Campobello.

Weinbach let the Explorers down with two hits—Jack Steiner's single in the third and Jimmie Close's double in the fifth—and struck out sixteen batsmen to boost his season's total to eighty-six, an average of better than twelve victims per game.

Brant Bats in Runs

The batting hero of the game was Glen Brant, who made his first appearance of the season in the Allegany lineup, and hammered home both runs. In the fifth with LaSalle leading, 1-0, Weinbach tripled after two down and scored the tying run when Brant got a life on an error. Allegany scored the winning run after two away in the last of the seventh when James "Sonny" Lease singled, stole second and came home when Brant smashed a single to left-center.

Steiner drove in LaSalle's lone tally in the third after an error had set the stage for the score.

Creegan Whiffs Nine

Creegan, who lost a 2-0 duel to Weinbach in their first meeting, yielded six hits and struck out nine.

Weinbach, who has scored four shutouts, and yielded only five runs in seven games, fanned two or more batsmen in every inning of yesterday's game. He mowed down Delaney and Creegan three times each and got Close, Genevie and Deffenbaugh twice each. The AHS southpaw ace issued four bases on balls.

LaSalle will close its season on Thursday at Hyndman. Box:

Jackie Conn Declares His Brother Billy Will Punch Louis Silly

POMPTON LAKE, N. J., June 4. (AP)—Midway through Joe Louis's six-round workout today, Billy Conn's brother, Jackie, was found in the stands watching the drill—and he didn't think much of it.

After Joe completed his work, in which he looked slow and was clouted liberally by his sparmates, Jackie announced flatly that the Bomber "looked awful easy to hit and Bill will punch him silly" when they meet for the heavyweight title in Yankee stadium June 19.

Several fight managers on hand for Louis's sparring session reported that the greatest change they noted in Joe's offense was that he appears to be "pushing" his punches now instead of "snapping" them in the past.

Dodgers, Pirates Split Dual Bill

Leaders Cop Second, 7-6 in Eleventh after Losing First, 4-3

PITTSBURGH, June 4. — (AP) — Brooklyn's league-leading Dodgers tottered on the brink of a double loss to Pittsburgh today but rallied to grab a 7-6 decision in the wild 11-inning nightcap after dropping the 4-3 opener to Lefty Fritz Ostermueller.

Managers Leo Durocher and Frankie Frisch tossed thirty-seven players into the prolonged second tilt before the Brooks finally pushed over a hitless run in the second overtime inning.

Eddie Stanky worked Johnny Lanning, the third Pirate hurler, for a walk and when Lanning threw late to second on Pee Wee Reese's sacrifice bunt, both runners were safe. Stanky took third on Dick Whitman's infield bouncer and scored on Dixie Walker's fly to Jim Russell. Les Webber who worked the ninth and tenth was the victor.

Pittsburgh had routed Joe Hatten and piled up a 6-3 margin going to the ninth when the Dodgers tied it up on singles by Bob Ramazzotti, Billy Herman and Walker and two Pirate errors. Box:

Coach Is Named

TROY, N. Y., June 4 (AP)— Edward A. Jontos, 36, former Syracuse University football star and until recently a lieutenant commander in the navy, was named today head football coach at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

from John L. Sullivan to Joe Louis

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Writer

After trailing Champion Tommy Burns throughout the United States and England in an effort to get a match for the heavyweight championship, Jack Johnson, a big Galveston, Tex., Negro, finally was given a chance at the title when a Sydney, New South Wales, promoter, Hugh McIntosh, offered a purse of $35,000 for a heavyweight title bout.

Burns, who had been ducking the Negro as had all heavyweights before him, agreed to the match, dictating terms which were that Burns would get $30,000 of the $35,000 purse. Johnson was to get $5,000 and a return ticket to London where he had been living.

An arena was built at Rushcutters Bay, Sydney, and the ring was a 24-foot affair.

The bout was scheduled for the morning of December 26, 1908, and McIntosh was given the honor of being the referee.

Johnson, a six-foot husky, had compiled a good record in his sixty-four bouts, having kayoed twenty-two of his foes. He began his career as a battle royal fighter in Galveston at the age of 16.

Before the fight both boxers gave frequent exhibitions at the arena, picking up extra money. When they entered the ring the odds were 7 to 4 on Burns, who weighed 168 pounds against Johnson's 192.

The crowd was estimated at 18,000 persons with tickets selling for $2.50 to $25.

A brass band played to keep the holiday crowd in a good mood before the fighters entered the ring. When they did climb through the ropes, Bill Squires, a heavyweight who had been beaten by Burns three times, challenged the winner.

Burns had elastic bandages about his elbows. Johnson wanted 'em removed but Burns refused to do it. Finally Johnson said he would not fight unless Burns removed the bandages. Burns finally agreed to do so.

After posing for the moving picture machine, the fight began. It was 11:15 a. m.

Johnson, then 30, rushed out and ripped an uppercut to Burns's jaw. The champion went down under that first blow. He survived the round although Johnson all but closed Burns's eye.

For 13 rounds Johnson took all of Burns's punches with a sneer and a laugh on his face. Johnson had all the best of the fighting.

In the fourteenth Johnson drove Burns to the floor for a count of eight. Burns got up but was unable to defend himself.

The police stepped in, stopped the fight. It had been agreed before the bout that if the police stopped it the referee must give a decision. He gave the decision to Johnson and for the first time in boxing history a Negro held the heavyweight championship.

The stakes were paid to both fighters while they still were in the ring.

Both men had bet heavily on themselves. Johnson wanted to win as a "birthday present for my wife."

Boston's 9-4 Triumph Is No. 13 in Row at Home against West

BOSTON, June 4 (AP) — Coming from behind the Red Sox exploded for six runs in the eighth inning today, defeating the St. Louis Browns 9-4 for their sixth consecutive victory and their thirteenth home success without defeat against western clubs.

Bobby Doerr had a field day as he slugged his fifth homer of the year with one on and then proceeded to collect two doubles and a single.

Doerr drove in four runs in the game which was played in a heavy mist, to bring his league leading RBI total to 40.

Mike "Pinky" Higgins, making his first start at third base for the Sox since being purchased from the Tigers, got himself three hits, including a double, in four trips as he drove home two runs.

Lefty Earl Johnson, third Boston pitcher, was the winner. Johnson, commissioned on the battlefield for gallantry in Europe, also got himself a hit in his only appearance at bat and drove in a run in the eighth inning. It was his fourth victory of the season, all in relief. Box:

Jim Evans tossed a one-hitter and fanned a half dozen batsmen as Fort Cumberland Post's pace setters registered their third straight triumph in the City Baseball League over the Loyal Order of Moose yesterday at Community Park. The score was 7 to 0.

It was the third setback for the Moose team which has failed to win a single game in ten starts in both the City and Interstate leagues.

The Legion scored its first two runs on passed balls and exploded for five runs in the seventh on hits by Manges, Robinson, Diehl, Fahey and Cumiskey, coupled with Frye's fielder's choice and a wild pitch.

Kenney Young obtained the Moose team's lone hit in the second inning. Jim Fahey garnered three of the Legion's nine safeties.

The game was played in the fast time of fifty-seven minutes.

Queen City's Brewers and the Fraternal Order of Eagles battled to a 4-4 draw at Stitcher field in a game halted by darkness after the completion of seven innings.

Manager Charley Doyle, who went into the game as relief catcher, scored the tying run in the last of the seventh when he walked, moved to second on Dick Barnes's sacrifice and came home on Bill Stevenson's single. Two baggers by Deremer and Reynolds combined with a walk, infield out and two errors gave Queen City three runs in the fourth.

Elliott went the route for the Eagles and yielded five hits. Stevenson relieved Reynolds in the fifth for Queen City. Boxes:

The Knights of Columbus defeated the B. P. O. Elks yesterday at Taylor field by the score of 8-4 and took undisputed possession of first place in the Rocking Chair Softball League by scoring their fourth straight victory while the Cumberland Outdoor Club was handing the Woodmen of the World their first setback by the score of 8-7 at East Side.

The Elks outhit the Knights, 10 to 5, but fielding misplays cost them the ball game. Norman Gerdeman's two-bagger with the bases loaded was the big blow of the game. Pete Lear hammered a triple for the Elks.

Al Weltman was the big noise as the Outdoor Club snapped the three-game winning streak of the Woodmen of the World. He yielded only two earned runs, smacked a homer with the bases loaded in the fourth and scored the winning run in the seventh.

The Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce broke a four-game losing streak and pulled out of last place by upsetting the Knights of Pythias at Campobello by the decisive score of 22 to 2. Gehringer, Jaycee pitcher, hit a grand slam homer, and Ken Gerard also hit for the circuit. Cedric Miller homered for the Pythians.

Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, with "Sparky" Chisholm pitching, turned back Potomac Edison on the Rolling Mill diamond, 11 to 3.

Cecil Warnick belted a homer and triple and Ralph Dyer swatted a four bagger as the Texcel Club took the Loyal Order of Moose into camp at Fort Hill, 8 to 7. The scores:

Ben Hogan Wins Goodall Tourney

By BILL BONI

MAMARONECK, N. Y., June 4 (AP)—Ben Hogan, who had looked like the winner after the first round of the $10,000 Goodall round-robin golf tournament came home the winner today at the end of seven rounds.

The Texas lightweight left no doubt about it by saving his two best rounds for the last. With a two-under-par 70 over the waterlogged Winged Foot course this morning, he whipped Jimmy Demaret 5 up and Jimmy Hines 4 up.

Hogan followed that up with a 69 this afternoon in what could have been a thrilling but actually was a somewhat anti-climactic match with Byron Nelson and Vic Ghezzi. When the match began Hogan already was sixteen points ahead of the field, and the principal question was what the winning margin would be.

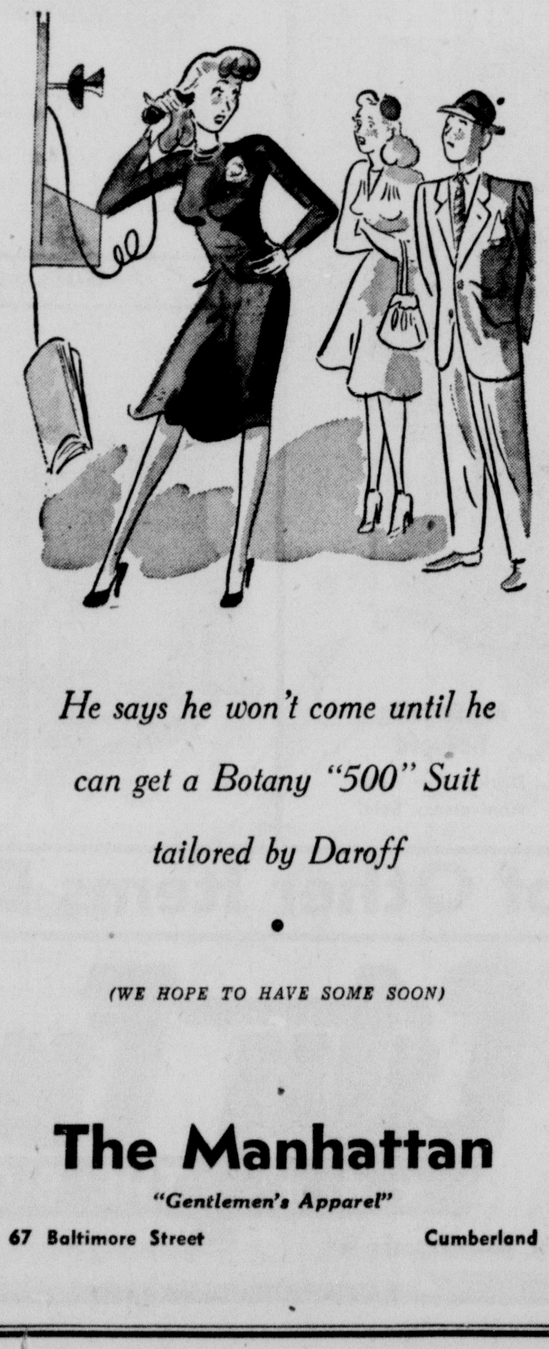
By turning back Nelson and Ghezzi by 3 up each, Hogan picked up six points. That made his total for the 126 holes of match play, in which he beat all but one of his 14 rivals, plus 51. That denoted a total of 51 more holes he had won than he had lost.

The triumph, Hogan's second in the Goodall and third in succession this season, gave him $2,000 for a year's winning total to date of $22,069.50.

Nelson's third prize money of $1,000 left him in second place for the year at $11,998.75.

In addition, Hogan and Nelson split the $300 offered for the low medal rounds. They tied for first place at 502, two under par for the seven rounds and excellent under the prevailing conditions.

Between Hogan and Nelson in the Goodall scoring came Lloyd Mangrum, at plus 26. Nelson was third at plus 22, followed by Jug McSpaden plus 21; Herman Keiser, plus 19; Lawson Little, plus 13; Vic Ghezzi, plus 5; Jimmy Hines, plus 3; Sam Snead and Herman Barron, each plus 2; Dutch Harrison and Sam Byrd, each minus 10; Jimmy Demaret, minus 26; Bob Hamilton, minus 44, and Dick Burton, minus 74.



He says he won't come until he can get a Botany "500" Suit tailored by Daroff

FINAL GAME
Thursday—LaSalle at Hyndman

Sid Weinbach turned in his seventh straight pitching triumph yesterday in besting Pat Creegan in a duel between lefthanders as Allegany high school's championship team concluded its 1946 campaign with a 2 to 1 decision over LaSalle high school at Campobello.

Weinbach let the Explorers down with two hits—Jack Steiner's single in the third and Jimmie Close's double in the fifth—and struck out sixteen batsmen to boost his season's total to eighty-six, an average of better than twelve victims per game.

Brant Bats in Runs

The batting hero of the game was Glen Brant, who made his first appearance of the season in the Allegany lineup, and hammered home both runs. In the fifth with LaSalle leading, 1-0, Weinbach tripled after two down and scored the tying run when Brant got a life on an error. Allegany scored the winning run after two away in the last of the seventh when James "Sonny" Lease singled, stole second and came home when Brant smashed a single to left-center.

Steiner drove in LaSalle's lone tally in the third after an error had set the stage for the score.

Creegan Whiffs Nine

Creegan, who lost a 2-0 duel to Weinbach in their first meeting, yielded six hits and struck out nine.

Weinbach, who has scored four shutouts, and yielded only five runs in seven games, fanned two or more batsmen in every inning of yesterday's game. He mowed down Delaney and Creegan three times each and got Close, Genevie and Deffenbaugh twice each. The AHS southpaw ace issued four bases on balls.

LaSalle will close its season on Thursday at Hyndman. Box:

Jackie Conn Declares His Brother Billy Will Punch Louis Silly

POMPTON LAKE, N. J., June 4 (AP)—Midway through Joe Louis's six-round workout today, Billy Conn's brother, Jackie, was found in the stands watching the drill—and he didn't think much of it.

After Joe completed his work, in which he looked slow and was clouted liberally by his sparmates, Jackie announced flatly that the Bomber "looked awful easy to hit and Bill will punch him silly" when they meet for the heavyweight title in Yankee stadium June 19.

Several fight managers on hand for Louis's sparring session reported that the greatest change they noted in Joe's offense was that he appears to be "pushing" his punches now instead of "snapping" them in the past.

Dodgers, Pirates Split Dual Bill

Leaders Cop Second, 7-6 in Eleventh after Losing First, 4-3

PITTSBURGH, June 4. — (AP) — Brooklyn's league-leading Dodgers tottered on the brink of a double loss to Pittsburgh today but rallied to grab a 7-6 decision in the wild 11-inning nightcap after dropping the 4-3 opener to Lefty Fritz Ostermueller.

Managers Leo Durocher and Frankie Frisch tossed thirty-seven players into the prolonged second tilt before the Brooks finally pushed over a hitless run in the second overtime inning.

Eddie Stanky worked Johnny Lanning, the third Pirate hurler, for a walk and when Lanning threw late to second on Pee Wee Reese's sacrifice bunt, both runners were safe. Stanky took third on Dick Whitman's infield bouncer and scored on Dixie Walker's fly to Jim Russell. Les Webber who worked the ninth and tenth was the victor.

Pittsburgh had routed Joe Hatten and piled up a 6-3 margin going to the ninth when the Dodgers tied it up on singles by Bob Ramazzotti, Billy Herman and Walker and two Pirate errors. Box:

Coach Is Named

TROY, N. Y., June 4 (AP)— Edward A. Jontos, 36, former Syracuse University football star and until recently a lieutenant commander in the navy, was named today head football coach at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

from John L. Sullivan to Joe Louis

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Writer

After trailing Champion Tommy Burns throughout the United States and England in an effort to get a match for the heavyweight championship, Jack Johnson, a big Galveston, Tex., Negro, finally was given a chance at the title when a Sydney, New South Wales, promoter, Hugh McIntosh, offered a purse of $35,000 for a heavyweight title bout.

Burns, who had been ducking the Negro as had all heavyweights before him, agreed to the match, dicting terms which were that Burns would get $30,000 of the $35,000 purse. Johnson was to get $5,000 and a return ticket to London where he had been living.

An arena was built at Rushcutters Bay, Sydney, and the ring was a 24-foot affair.

The bout was scheduled for the morning of December 26, 1908, and McIntosh was given the honor of being the referee.

Johnson, a six-foot husky, had compiled a good record in his sixty-four bouts, having kayoed twenty-two of his foes. He began his career as a battle royal fighter in Galveston at the age of 16.

Before the fight both boxers gave frequent exhibitions at the arena, picking up extra money. When they entered the ring the odds were 7 to 4 on Burns, who weighed 168 pounds against Johnson's 192.

The crowd was estimated at 18,000 persons with tickets selling for $2.50 to $25.

A brass band played to keep the holiday crowd in a good mood before the fighters entered the ring. When they did climb through the ropes, Bill Squires, a heavyweight who had been beaten by Burns three times, challenged the winner.

Burns had elastic bandages about his elbows. Johnson wanted 'em removed but Burns refused to do it. Finally Johnson said he would not fight unless Burns removed the bandages. Burns finally agreed to do so.

After posing for the moving picture machine, the fight began. It was 11:15 a. m.

Johnson, then 30, rushed out and ripped an uppercut to Burns's jaw. The champion went down under that first blow. He survived the round although Johnson all but closed Burns's eye.

For 13 rounds Johnson took all of Burns's punches with a sneer and a laugh on his face. Johnson had all the best of the fighting.

In the fourteenth Johnson drove Burns to the floor for a count of eight. Burns got up but was unable to defend himself.

The police stepped in, stopped the fight. It had been agreed before the bout that if the police stopped it the referee must give a decision. He gave the decision to Johnson and for the first time in boxing history a Negro held the heavyweight championship.

The stakes were paid to both fighters while they still were in the ring.

Both men had bet heavily on themselves. Johnson wanted to win as a "birthday present for my wife."

Red Sox Score Six in Eighth To Top Browns

Boston's 9-4 Triumph Is No. 13 in Row at Home against West

BOSTON, June 4 (AP) — Coming from behind the Red Sox exploded for six runs in the eighth inning today, defeating the St. Louis Browns 9-4 for their sixth consecutive victory and their thirteenth home success without defeat against western clubs.

Bobby Doerr had a field day as he slugged his fifth homer of the year with one on and then proceeded to collect two doubles and a single.

Doerr drove in four runs in the game which was played in a heavy mist, to bring his league leading RBI total to 40.

Mike "Pinky" Higgins, making his first start at third base for the Sox since being purchased from the Tigers, got himself three hits, including a double, in four trips as he drove home two runs.

Lefty Earl Johnson, third Boston pitcher, was the winner. Johnson, commissioned on the battlefield for gallantry in Europe, also got himself a hit in his only appearance at bat and drove in a run in the eighth inning. It was his fourth victory of the season, all in relief. Box:

Jim Evans tossed a one-hitter and fanned a half dozen batsmen as Fort Cumberland Post's pace setters registered their third straight triumph in the City Baseball League over the Loyal Order of Moose yesterday at Community Park. The score was 7 to 0.

It was the third setback for the Moose team which has failed to win a single game in ten starts in both the City and Interstate leagues.

The Legion scored its first two runs on passed balls and exploded for five runs in the seventh on hits by Manges, Robinson, Diehl, Fahey and Cumiskey, coupled with Frye's fielder's choice and a wild pitch.

Kenney Young obtained the Moose team's lone hit in the second inning. Jim Fahey garnered three of the Legion's nine safeties.

The game was played in the fast time of fifty-seven minutes.

Queen City's Brewers and the Fraternal Order of Eagles battled to a 4-4 draw at Stitcher field in a game halted by darkness after the completion of seven innings.

Manager Charley Doyle, who went into the game as relief catcher, scored the tying run in the last of the seventh when he walked, moved to second on Dick Barnes's sacrifice and came home on Bill Stevenson's single. Two baggers by Deremer and Reynolds combined with a walk, infield out and two errors gave Queen City three runs in the fourth.

Elliott went the route for the Eagles and yielded five hits. Stevenson relieved Reynolds in the fifth for Queen City. Boxes:

The Knights of Columbus defeated the B. P. O. Elks yesterday at Taylor field by the score of 8-4 and took undisputed possession of first place in the Rocking Chair Softball League by scoring their fourth straight victory while the Cumberland Outdoor Club was handing the Woodmen of the World their first setback by the score of 8-7 at East Side.

The Elks outhit the Knights, 10 to 5, but fielding misplays cost them the ball game. Norman Gerdeman's two-bagger with the bases loaded was the big blow of the game. Pete Lear hammered a triple for the Elks.

Al Weltman was the big noise as the Outdoor Club snapped the three-game winning streak of the Woodmen of the World. He yielded only two earned runs, smacked a homer with the bases loaded in the fourth and scored the winning run in the seventh.

The Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce broke a four-game losing streak and pulled out of last place by upsetting the Knights of Pythias at Campobello by the decisive score of 22 to 2. Gehringer, Jaycee pitcher, hit a grand slam homer, and Ken Gerard also hit for the circuit. Cedric Miller homered for the Pythians.

Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, with "Sparky" Chisholm pitching, turned back Potomac Edison on the Rolling Mill diamond, 11 to 3.

Ben Hogan Wins Goodall Tourney

By BILL BONI

MAMARONECK, N. Y., June 4 (AP) —Ben Hogan, who had looked like the winner after the first round of the $10,000 Goodall round-robin golf tournament came home the winner today at the end of seven rounds.

The Texas lightweight left no doubt about it by saving his two best rounds for the last. With a two-under-par 70 over the waterlogged Winged Foot course this morning, he whipped Jimmy Demaret 5 up and Jimmy Hines 4 up.

Hogan followed that up with a 69 this afternoon in what could have been a thrilling but actually was a somewhat anti-climactic match with Byron Nelson and Vic Ghezzi. When the match began Hogan already was sixteen points ahead of the field, and the principal question was what the winning margin would be.

By turning back Nelson and Ghezzi by 3 up each, Hogan picked up six points. That made his total for the 126 holes of match play, in which he beat all but one of his 14 rivals, plus 51. That denoted a total of 51 more holes he had won than he had lost.

The triumph, Hogan's second in the Goodall and third in succession this season, gave him $2,000 for a year's winning total to date of $22,069.50.

Nelson's third prize money of $1,000 left him in second place for the year at $11,998.75.

In addition, Hogan and Nelson split the $300 offered for the low medal rounds. They tied for first place at 502, two under par for the seven rounds and excellent under the prevailing conditions.

Between Hogan and Nelson in the Goodall scoring came Lloyd Mangrum, at plus 26. Nelson was third at plus 22, followed by Jug McSpaden plus 21; Herman Keiser, plus 19; Lawson Little, plus 13; Vic Ghezzi, plus 5; Jimmy Hines, plus 3; Sam Snead and Herman Barron, each plus 2; Dutch Harrison and Sam Byrd, each minus 10; Jimmy Demaret, minus 26; Bob Hamilton, minus 44, and Dick Burton, minus 74.

He says he won't come until he can get a Botany "500" Suit tailored by Daroff

Melchoir Will Be In Crosby Show On Radio Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—Lauritz Melchoir, of the opera, who does occational broadcasts, among which have been comedy appearances with Fred Allen, comes back on the air Wednesday night. But this time he joins in a popular music show, the Bob Crosby offering on the CBS list at 8:30. It would seem that he would sing. Other elements on this program on a regular basis are Jeri Sullivan and the Town Criers.

NBC reports that in its late schedule at 11:05 it is replacing the Danny Ryvan program with a Snooky Lanson show. Snooky rates as a singer.

Earlier in the evening on NBC at 8:30 the "District Attorney's" script writers say that they have prepared a piece which they identify as "The Case of the Baby Cradle and All." Of course the D. A. will have a solution, for no radio detective ever seems to encounter a failure.

The "Question America" forum series which ABC had listed to move to Wednesday night at 8 from Monday just won't. As you may have heard it stays on Monday nights at 9, a new time. What goes in at 8 Wednesday's hadn't been revealed by the network at the time of writing.

It will be an All-Gershwin display when "Great Moments in Music" gets on CBS for its weekly at 9. Some of his best-known tunes will be included, such as "I Got Plenty of Nothin'", "Someone to Watch Over Me," and "Strike up the Band."

—The bayonet was named for the city of Bayonne, France, where the weapon was developed in the 17th century.

—What is now the city of Galveston, Tex., was once named "Galvezton" after Count Bernardo de Galvez, Spanish viceroy of Mexico.

—Colorado, with an average altitude of 6,800 feet above sea level, has the highest altitude of the forty-eight states.

Maryland Gets Set For War on Beetles

COLLEGE PARK, Md., June 4 (AP) —Maryland's annual war against destructive Japanese beetles soon will be on in full swing.

With a bacterial dust ready to use against the insects that destroy trees and shrubs, George Langford and Ernest N. Cory, University of Maryland entomologists, predicted the state soon would have "full relief" from serious damage by the beetles.

Previously, "milky disease spore dust" has been spread by hand in infected areas. This year the bacterial weapon will also be spread from a new dispenser in areas of heavy infection.

This dispenser will catch flying beetles, cover them with the dust, then release them to return to their breeding grounds and infect grubs, thus killing them before they can mature.

The beetles also will be fought with DDT, traps and parasitic insects.

Approximately 10,000 pounds of the spore dust will be distributed among the various counties in Maryland.

Governor Favors More Funds for Negro College

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 4 (AP) — Gov. O'Conor said today he favored granting Morgan State college $50,332 in additional funds for more teachers and equipment, but added that the board of public works would have to act on the request.

Judge Morris A. Soper, chairman of the board of trustees of the college for negroes, made a plea for the additional funds yesterday, asserting that the situation at the school was "grave."

O'Conor said copies of Soper's request had been sent to members of the board of public works. He said the board would meet soon to consider the needs of Morgan college and other educational institutions in the state.

Melchoir Will Be In Crosby Show On Radio Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—Lauritz Melchoir, of the opera, who does occational broadcasts, among which have been comedy appearances with Fred Allen, comes back on the air Wednesday night. But this time he joins in a popular music show, the Bob Crosby offering on the CBS list at 8:30. It would seem that he would sing. Other elements on this program on a regular basis are Jeri Sullivan and the Town Criers.

NBC reports that in its late schedule at 11:05 it is replacing the Danny Ryvan program with a Snooky Lanson show. Snooky rates as a singer.

Earlier in the evening on NBC at 8:30 the "District Attorney's" script writers say that they have prepared a piece which they identify as "The Case of the Baby Cradle and All." Of course the D. A. will have a solution, for no radio detective ever seems to encounter a failure.

The "Question America" forum series which ABC had listed to move to Wednesday night at 8 from Monday just won't. As you may have heard it stays on Monday nights at 9, a new time. What goes in at 8 Wednesday's hadn't been revealed by the network at the time of writing.

It will be an All-Gershwin display when "Great Moments in Music" gets on CBS for its weekly at 9. Some of his best-known tunes will be included, such as "I Got Plenty of Nothin'", "Someone to Watch Over Me," and "Strike up the Band."

Marion L. Weber To Resign Post, Dr. Franklin Says

Resignation of Supervisor of County Nurses Will Be Effective July 1

Miss Marion L. Weber, supervisor of public health nurses in Allegany county since last October 1, has resigned, Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, city and county health officer, announced yesterday.

Her resignation will become effective July 1. A successor to Miss Weber has not yet been appointed.

Prior to becoming supervisor Miss Weber served as a public health nurse for Cumberland from October, 1941, until July, 1944, when she became state public health nurse for the eastern section of the county.

A graduate of Pennsylvania Avenue high school, Miss Weber attended the University of Maryland for three years before returning to Cumberland. She was graduated from the Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in 1938, and was assigned to general duty at the hospital for the following two years.

In 1940 Miss Weber went to Richmond, Va., where she attended the Richmond Professional institute, College of William and Mary, receiving a bachelor of science degree in nursing and a certificate as a public health nurse.

Miss Weber, who resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Weber, 500 Oldtown road, is president of District 1 of the Maryland State Nurses Association.

Veterans Indorse Lane for Governor

William Preston Lane, Jr., the only veteran running for governor on either party ticket, yesterday received a scroll signed by 1,000 Allegany county war veterans indorsing his candidacy.

The scroll announcing the support of practically a whole battalion of veterans was presented to Lane yesterday when he visited his Democratic campaign headquarters in the Windsor hotel after a tour of Garrett county.

The impromptu presentation ceremony came as a surprise to the candidate who was hurrying back to Baltimore. Supporters of Lane yesterday voiced the opinion that the presentation of the scroll is a tangible indication that Maryland veterans will support Lane's candidacy.

Lane saluted the concrete evidence of veterans rallying to his support and said:

"We have all marched to the tune "An Old Soldier Never Dies." It can also be said that an old soldier never forgets his comrades of yesteryears nor their problems of today. If I am elected the mat in front of the State House will have a GI Welcome emblazoned on it."

Some of the Allegany countians who were present for the presentation of the scroll yesterday morning were Joseph E. Mackert, Howard Dickey, T. Raymond "Pat" Farrell and George W. Banzhof.

EX-SAILORS WANTED TO MAN SHIPS IF CIO STRIKE TAKES PLACE

An order was received yesterday by Chief Boatswain's Mate Bradford Smith, local navy recruiter, directing all navy recruiting stations to recruit ex-servicemen "to meet the imminent critical situation confronting the nation, caused by the pending merchant marine strike."

The directive came from Assistant Secretary of the Navy W. John Kennedy and explains that "deck, radio and engineering qualifications are particularly needed."

The order also states that no reserves are to be recalled to active duty until further orders. Naval volunteers would be on a standby basis for the present to operate ships if the CIO maritime strike occurs.

It is also explained that members of the inactive naval personnel are affected by the order which will be carried out June 15, if the strike takes place.

Meanwhile another man has enlisted in the navy through the local station making a total of six reported this week. He is Donald Brook Shahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus W. Shehan, St. George W. Va.

France Will Attend Republican Dinner Here Tonight

Joseph France, Republican national committeeman from Baltimore, will attend a dinner tonight at the Country club where approximately seventy-five Republican leaders in Allegany county will discuss the forthcoming elections and the proper formula for a Republican success. Invitations for the affair were sent out several weeks ago.

It was reported yesterday that several other Maryland Republicans are expected to attend tonight's dinner which will be in the nature of an informal get-together.

Jacobs To Address Instrument Group

Mifflin Jacobs will address the Cumberland Section of the Instrument Society of America at the next dinner meeting in Queen City hotel June 25. His subject will be "Control Manufacturers' Precautions in Instrument Installations."

At the last meeting of the society here, Otto Kneisel, spoke on "Diaphragm Valves," in the absence of Bruce Irwin who was unable to attend.

For the past three years, Kneisel has been doing valve development work for the Hammond-Dahl Company, Providence, R. I. He was accompanied here by Wayne B. Farley, district sales manager of the firm.

CAB Examiners Recommend City As TWA Stop

Civil Aeronautics Board examiners Ross I. Newmann and Curtis C. Henderson recommended yesterday that the board authorize Transcontinental and Western Air, Incorporated, to include on Route No. 61 (A) Cumberland and Hagerstown, Md., as intermediate points between Morgantown, W. Va., and Washington, D. C., according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington.

Oral arguments on the examiners' recommendation will be held at a date to be announced. The airlines cannot begin operating on the proposed new route until the board makes a final decision. The board sometimes rejects all or part of its examiners' reports, the AP said.

Ignorance Cited As Hurting U. S., British Friendship

British Consulate Member Offers Suggestions for Reconciling Differences

Anglo-American friendship is not what it should be because "we are completely ignorant of each other," Cmdr. Kenneth Downey, of the British consulate at Washington, told Rotarians here yesterday.

Declaring that he wanted that friendship strengthened more than anything else—even more than the British loan—Cmdr. Downey pointed out why the two peoples knew so little of each other and offered suggestions as to how their differences could be reconciled in a talk replete with real witticisms delivered before the Rotary club at its weekly luncheon at Central YMCA.

There are many misunderstandings as to why they are not understood, Cmdr. Downey said. One is that Americans do not understand the English vocabulary, and he cited various differences of terms. Another is caused by the difference in distances in the two countries. Another lies in omissions, and some erroneous text in history books in both lands. Climatic differences also play a part. Differing mentalities also contribute.

In ninety-nine and a half of every 100 instances, Cmdr. Downey said by way of one illustration, the so-called British "stuffed shirt" is just a reticent fellow who is simply "frightened to death" by customs with which he is totally unfamiliar, and that is all. Underneath, he as well as all other Britains, make up a "reasonable, orderly and decent type."

Several suggestions for strengthening Anglo-American friendship were advanced, including exchange visits of squads of some 200 Americans and British citizens for purposes of obtaining requisite information of each people, and exchange of school pupils for a year's tuition.

Cmdr. Downey is a veteran of both World wars. He joined the British admiralty at the outbreak of the last one and was attached to the British naval intelligence. He saw service in France and Begieum, and was in the Battle of England, of which he gave several thrilling personal experiences.

Edward Cosgrove Heads K. of C.

Edward Cosgrove last night was elected grand knight of Cumberland Council No. 586, Knights of Columbus, at the meeting for the annual election of officers which was attended by 112 members.

Paul Nose was elected deputy grand knight; John Aaron, chancellor; Robert A. Davis, treasurer; August H. Fogtman, advocate; Lawrence Blake, trustee; Edward Erich, recording secretary; Norman Chirdon, warden; Hugh Patrick Kilroy, inside guard, and Wilber Firle, outside guard.

Five home committeemen named were James B. Reinhart, Sylvester Shircliff, James Condon, James Browning and John T. Creegan.

Stanley R. Fretwell was named delegate to next year's state convention with his alternate John T. Creegan. Gormer Kelly was named alternate delegate.

A luncheon was served following the business meeting.

Wanna Buy a Horse! See City Firemen

The boys up at Central fire station don't mind admitting they have seen some strange and wonderful sights but report they were really stumped last week when a West Virginia motorist drove up to the fire hall and asked, "Wanna buy a horse?"

The driver, they said, suggested that a young colt, standing inside the Pontiac convertible coupe, would make an ideal horse to draw one of the fire trucks parked there.

The firemen reported the horse was quite at ease in the vehicle but were unable to explain how the driver might have managed to get the animal inside the car.

Labor Unity Group To Indorse Candidates

The Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference will indorse candidates in the coming primary election at its meeting tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock in Allegany Trades Council hall, C. E. Stutzman, temporary president announced yesterday.

Also scheduled at the meeting of the group representing all labor groups of the county will be the election of permanent officers.

Seek Missing Car

City and state police were still searching last evening for the 1937 Chrysler sedan which Roy Means, 408 Footer place, reported was stolen from the parking lot at the Kelly plant between 10:30 p. m. Sunday and 7:30 a. m. Monday. The car bears Maryland license No. 615-001, Means said.

ST. PHILIP'S CHAPEL CONSECRATED—The congregation of 100 persons and guests Sunday night attended the consecration of St. Philip's chapel on Smallwood street when mortgage notes were burned signifying that the church is out of debt. Shown above are officials who participated in the service. They are (left to right) Johnson M. Denson, senior warden of the chapel; the Rt. Rev. Noble C. Powell, D. D., Bishop of Maryland, who charged the congregation; the Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, vicar, who is shown holding the sentence of consecration; and Charles L. Denson, treasurer, shown burning the mortgage notes. Fifteen years were required to wholly free the chapel of indebtedness and Bishop Powell told the congregation, "In the past this church has belonged to men; now it belongs to God."

Wife of Air Corps Captain Granted Divorce Here

Mrs. Ella Senkbeil Says Husband Openly Courted another Woman

Ella Mae Senkbeil, 37, 115 Bellvue street, yesterday was granted an absolute divorce and alimony of $75 a month from Carl R. Senkbeil, an original member of Company G now a captain in the air corps.

According to the petition filed by Charles Z. Heskett, attorney for the wife, the couple were married in 1929. The wife said she learned that her husband "was openly courting a girl named Opel Cashwheeler" while he was stationed at Burkburnett, Texas. Exhibits in the case included a framed picture inscribed "All my love, Opal." The wife said she found the picture in her husband's room while he was stationed at Wichita Falls, Texas.

The wife also introduced letters allegedly sent by Opal to her husband and testified that her husband and the girl had a joint bank account in Denver, Colo. Mrs. Senkbeil also testified that the girl's mother wrote to her protesting against Opal's conduct.

Asked for Divorce

On March 6 of this year Capt. Senkbeil wrote to his wife and asked that she get a divorce, she said. The court awarded Mrs. Senkbeil the right to resume her maiden name of Ella Mae Straw.

Testifying that her husband deserted her on their wedding day, Mrs. Lena Miller Smith, 36, Frostburg, yesterday was granted an absolute divorce, custody of their daughter, aged 12, and $30 a month, from her husband, Charles Smith. According to her attorney, Edward J. Ryan, they were married in 1934 and have been separated ever since that time. Smith, a veteran of World War II, was represented by William A. Gunter.

The court granted an absolute decree to Michael J. Murray, 31, Cumberland, from Mrs. Helen L. Murray. According to the petitioner's attorney, Morgan C. Harris, they were married in 1939 and lived for a time at 611 Greene street. The plaintiff was given the custody of two children, ages 4 and 2.

Gets Absolute Decree

Another absolute decree was awarded to Mrs. Ethel May Buser, 38, 1018 Ella avenue, from Roy Theodore Buser, a Celanese employe. They were married in 1925 with the wife charging that her husband deserted her in 1938. The court gave the wife the custody of three children, ages 17, 14 and 7, and ordered that the husband pay $40 a month for their support. The petitioner was represented by Harris.

Mrs. Hildegard M. Jenkins has instituted divorce proceedings against Walter J. Jenkins, Cumberland, but no bill of complaint was filed by her counsel, Lewis M. Wilson. Mrs. Jenkins is still a minor and the action was filed in the name of her father and next friend, Karl J. Langer.

SIXTY-FOUR CHILDREN EXAMINED AT CLINIC

Sixty-four children, including three from Garrett county, were examined at the annual plastic surgery slinic held Saturday at headquarters of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, according to Mrs. Hume O. Annan, executive secretary of the league.

Of that number, thirteen were new patients. Hospitalization was recommended for thirty-five children; examination at special clinics was recommended for four of the patients; and six were discharged.

The clinic was conducted by Dr. Edward A. Kitlowski, noted plastic surgeon of Baltimore.

In her service report for May, Mrs. Annan said that twelve persons were admitted to hospitals, six were discharged, and twenty-seven new pairs of shoes were purchased for orthopedic patients. Fourteen patients were in hospitals at the end of May.

Indignant A.H.S. Alumnus Deplores Disfigurement of Statue of "Hebe"

Kopp Says He Is Not Inclined To View Defacing Lightly

An indignant alumnus of Allegany high school who said his class presented "Hebe," the goddess of youth, to the school in 1926, last night deplored the disfigurement and mutilation to a work of art Sunday night by "three irresponsible pranksters" and declared, "It merely goes to show that a cap and gown doesn't mean a thing when worn by some people."

The alumnus who contacted The News declared, "Our class presented that statue to the school before any of the members of this year's class were born. The statue was presented by the class at the old Green street building and when the new building was completed the administration at that time thought highly enough of the statue to install it in a prominent place in the new building."

Meanwhile, School Superintendent Charles L. Kopp said he was not inclined to view the episode at the school Sunday night "lightly." The superintendent said it was obviously a case of "breaking and entering" and "defacing of public property."

The superintendent said that Principal Ralph R. Webster has not as yet placed all details regarding the incident in his hands but indorsed a statement made by Webster to the News Monday night.

While it was originally reported there were about eight or ten graduates involved in the episode, the field yesterday had been narrowed down to three.

While Principal Webster remained mum regarding the affair, other sources reported all three pranksters had been active in school affairs last year.

Corriganville Fire Company Wants Siren Atop City Hall

The Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company yesterday asked the board of county commissioners for the fire siren on top of city hall, declaring they are entitled to "preference by reason of seniority."

The board bought fire sirens during the war and four of them have already been given to various fire companies in the county. Requests for the one on the city hall roof have been received from the Baltimore Pike, Bedford Road and Bowman's Addition companies.

Harry C. Walters, president of the Corriganville company, said yesterday, "We were the first applicants for the siren and we are older than the other three companies." The commissioners deferred action on the requests pending word from the mayor and city council on disposition of the siren.

Donald L. Ort Wins Jaycee Essay Contest

Donald L. Ort, 874 Sperry Terrace, a student of Allegany high school, is the winner of the essay contest sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, David Kauffman, president, said last night.

A large number of students submitted essays, but Ort's was chosen by the judges as the best for the knowledge and study of the subject the essay portrays. All entries were neat and well written, but judges believe Ort showed a more thorough study.

The subject was, "How Can Political Science Control Atomic Energy?" The prize is a reference library of history, science and government, valued at $25.

The directors indorsed a proposed project in connection with the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce to "get out the vote" in all elections, and to encourage and remind veterans to indicate a party affiliation on registration day. The United States Jaycee organization has prepared a reference library of living memorial projects and programs which will be available.

Paint Shop Appeal Granted by Board

The board of zoning appeals yesterday approved an appeal of Brooks Joy and Harry Hoffman, both of RFD 1, Allegany Grove, for an occupancy permit to use a one-story building at the rear of 430 Laing avenue as a shop for painting cars.

Their application for a permit was denied May 23 by Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, on the ground that the building is located in a Residential B zoning district.

Both Joy and Hoffman testified at the board meeting, stating that they plan to conduct the business on a small scale, and that odors from the paint will not be offensive to nearby residents. LeRoy Miller, 213 Oak street, owner of the building, said that it was previously occupied by the Tiny Tot Furniture Company, and that the company made toys and painted them on the premises. Before that time, Liberty dairy trucks were stored in the building, Miller added.

J. E. Wetzel, board chairman, said that approval of the appeal was based on a section of the zoning ordinance which provides for the continuance of use of a building for the same general purpose as in the past.

Henry Bosenberg, 517 City View terrace, secured a building permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to enclose the front porch at his home with frame walls covered with inselbrick. Work, which is estimated to cost $150, will be done by the owner.

Samuel E. Griminger, city clerk, said that he will request Chief of Police Oscar A. Eyerman to inspect the premises before next Monday and report to the council on his findings.

An occupancy permit for use of the lot was granted to Harris yesterday in the office of Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer. The lot, located in an industrial zoning district, is owned by Wallace McKaig. Harris said he has leased the lot from McKaig.

In his application for a license, Harris stated that he plans to accommodate fifty-one cars or more in the lot, which will be known as the City Parking lot. His present business includes washing cars and car storage.

Veterans Indorse Lane for Governor

William Preston Lane, Jr., the only veteran running for governor on either party ticket, yesterday received a scroll signed by 1,000 Allegany county war veterans indorsing his candidacy.

The scroll announcing the support of practically a whole battalion of veterans was presented to Lane yesterday when he visited his Democratic campaign headquarters in the Windsor hotel after a tour of Garrett county.

The impromptu presentation ceremony came as a surprise to the candidate who was hurrying back to Baltimore. Supporters of Lane yesterday voiced the opinion that the presentation of the scroll is a tangible indication that Maryland veterans will support Lane's candidacy.

Lane saluted the concrete evidence of veterans rallying to his support and said:

"We have all marched to the tune "An Old Soldier Never Dies." It can also be said that an old soldier never forgets his comrades of yesteryears nor their problems of today. If I am elected the mat in front of the State House will have a GI Welcome emblazoned on it."

Some of the Allegany countians who were present for the presentation of the scroll yesterday morning were Joseph E. Mackert, Howard Dickey, T. Raymond "Pat" Farrell and George W. Banzhof.

Ignorance Cited As Hurting U. S., British Friendship

British Consulate Member Offers Suggestions for Reconciling Differences

Anglo-American friendship is not what it should be because "we are completely ignorant of each other," Cmdr. Kenneth Downey, of the British consulate at Washington, told Rotarians here yesterday.

Declaring that he wanted that friendship strengthened more than anything else—even more than the British loan—Cmdr. Downey pointed out why the two peoples knew so little of each other and offered suggestions as to how their differences could be reconciled in a talk replete with real witticisms delivered before the Rotary club at its weekly luncheon at Central YMCA.

There are many misunderstandings as to why they are not understood, Cmdr. Downey said. One is that Americans do not understand the English vocabulary, and he cited various differences of terms. Another is caused by the difference in distances in the two countries. Another lies in omissions, and some erroneous text in history books in both lands. Climatic differences also play a part. Differing mentalities also contribute.

In ninety-nine and a half of every 100 instances, Cmdr. Downey said by way of one illustration, the so-called British "stuffed shirt" is just a reticent fellow who is simply "frightened to death" by customs with which he is totally unfamiliar, and that is all. Underneath, he as well as all other Britains, make up a "reasonable, orderly and decent type."

Several suggestions for strengthening Anglo-American friendship were advanced, including exchange visits of squads of some 200 Americans and British citizens for purposes of obtaining requisite information of each people, and exchange of school pupils for a year's tuition.

Cmdr. Downey is a veteran of both World wars. He joined the British admiralty at the outbreak of the last one and was attached to the British naval intelligence. He saw service in France and Begleum, and was in the Battle of England, of which he gave several thrilling personal experiences.

Wanna Buy a Horse! See City Firemen

The boys up at Central fire station don't mind admitting they have seen some strange and wonderful sights but report they were really stumped last week when a West Virginia motorist drove up to the fire hall and asked, "Wanna buy a horse?"

The driver, they said, suggested that a young colt, standing inside the Pontiac convertible coupe, would make an ideal horse to draw one of the fire trucks parked there.

The firemen reported the horse was quite at ease in the vehicle but were unable to explain how the driver might have managed to get the animal inside the car.

Wife of Air Corps Captain Granted Divorce Here

Mrs. Ella Senkbeil Says Husband Openly Courted another Woman

Ella Mae Senkbeil, 37, 115 Bellvue street, yesterday was granted an absolute divorce and alimony of $75 a month from Carl R. Senkbeil, an original member of Company G now a captain in the air corps.

According to the petition filed by Charles Z. Heskett, attorney for the wife, the couple were married in 1929. The wife said she learned that her husband "was openly courting a girl named Opel Cashwheeler" while he was stationed at Burkburnett, Texas. Exhibits in the case included a framed picture inscribed "All my love, Opal." The wife said she found the picture in her husband's room while he was stationed at Wichita Falls, Texas.

The wife also introduced letters allegedly sent by Opal to her husband and testified that her husband and the girl had a joint bank account in Denver, Colo. Mrs. Senkbeil also testified that the girl's mother wrote to her protesting against Opal's conduct.

Asked for Divorce

On March 6 of this year Capt. Senkbeil wrote to his wife and asked that she get a divorce, she said. The court awarded Mrs. Senkbeil the right to resume her maiden name of Ella Mae Straw.

Testifying that her husband deserted her on their wedding day, Mrs. Lena Miller Smith, 36, Frostburg, yesterday was granted an absolute divorce, custody of their daughter, aged 12, and $30 a month, from her husband, Charles Smith. According to her attorney, Edward J. Ryan, they were married in 1934 and have been separated ever since that time. Smith, a veteran of World War II, was represented by William A. Gunter.

The court granted an absolute decree to Michael J. Murray, 31, Cumberland, from Mrs. Helen L. Murray. According to the petitioner's attorney, Morgan C. Harris, they were married in 1939 and lived for a time at 611 Greene street. The plaintiff was given the custody of two children, ages 4 and 2.

Gets Absolute Decree

Another absolute decree was awarded to Mrs. Ethel May Buser, 38, 1018 Ella avenue, from Roy Theodore Buser, a Celanese employe. They were married in 1925 with the wife charging that her husband deserted her in 1938. The court gave the wife the custody of three children, ages 17, 14 and 7, and ordered that the husband pay $40 a month for their support. The petitioner was represented by Harris.

Mrs. Hildegard M. Jenkins has instituted divorce proceedings against Walter J. Jenkins, Cumberland, but no bill of complaint was filed by her counsel, Lewis M. Wilson. Mrs. Jenkins is still a minor and the action was filed in the name of her father and next friend, Karl J. Langer.

SIXTY-FOUR CHILDREN EXAMINED AT CLINIC

Of that number, thirteen were new patients. Hospitalization was recommended for thirty-five children; examination at special clinics was recommended for four of the patients; and six were discharged.

The clinic was conducted by Dr. Edward A. Kitlowski, noted plastic surgeon of Baltimore.

In her service report for May, Mrs. Annan said that twelve persons were admitted to hospitals, six were discharged, and twenty-seven new pairs of shoes were purchased for orthopedic patients. Fourteen patients were in hospitals at the end of May.

Indignant A.H.S. Alumnus Deplores Disfigurement of Statue of "Hebe"

Kopp Says He Is Not Inclined To View Defacing Lightly

An indignant alumnus of Allegany high school who said his class presented "Hebe," the goddess of youth, to the school in 1926, last night deplored the disfigurement and mutilation to a work of art Sunday night by "three irresponsible pranksters" and declared, "It merely goes to show that a cap and gown doesn't mean a thing when worn by some people."

The alumnus who contacted The News declared, "Our class presented that statue to the school before any of the members of this year's class were born. The statue was presented by the class at the old Green street building and when the new building was completed the administration at that time thought highly enough of the statue to install it in a prominent place in the new building."

Meanwhile, School Superintendent Charles L. Kopp said he was not inclined to view the episode at the school Sunday night "lightly." The superintendent said it was obviously a case of "breaking and entering" and "defacing of public property."

The superintendent said that Principal Ralph R. Webster has not as yet placed all details regarding the incident in his hands but indorsed a statement made by Webster to the News Monday night.

While it was originally reported there were about eight or ten graduates involved in the episode, the field yesterday had been narrowed down to three.

While Principal Webster remained mum regarding the affair, other sources reported all three pranksters had been active in school affairs last year.

Corriganville Fire Company Wants Siren Atop City Hall

The Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company yesterday asked the board of county commissioners for the fire siren on top of city hall, declaring they are entitled to "preference by reason of seniority."

The board bought fire sirens during the war and four of them have already been given to various fire companies in the county. Requests for the one on the city hall roof have been received from the Baltimore Pike, Bedford Road and Bowman's Addition companies.

Harry C. Walters, president of the Corriganville company, said yesterday, "We were the first applicants for the siren and we are older than the other three companies." The commissioners deferred action on the requests pending word from the mayor and city council on disposition of the siren.

Jaycee Directors Discuss Projects For Future Action

Mayor and City Council Have Been Invited to Meeting Tonight

The board of directors of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce met last night and discussed several projects of interest to the organization and community.

David Kauffman, president, said the regular membership meeting will be held this evening at 6:15 o'clock at Central YMCA instead of the Ali Ghan Shrine club as previously announced. Mayor Thomas S. Post and members of the city council have been invited to attend as guests, and to comment upon several questions the young men will discuss.

Kauffman explained last night that the organization would like to know from the city officials the answers to three questions. (1) What are Cumberland's needs? (2) What can we as individuals do to attain these needs? (3) What can the Jaycees as an organization do to attain these needs?

Indorse Election Project

The directors indorsed a proposed project in connection with the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce to "get out the vote" in all elections, and to encourage and remind veterans to indicate a party affiliation on registration day. Many veterans who voted while in service for the first time are not properly registered, so far as party affiliation is concerned, Kauffman explained.

Plan Race Week Dance

The social committee was directed to begin immediate plans for a Jaycee dance to be held during race week.

The governmental affairs committee was instructed to prepare plans for helping promote a student city government day here during the next school term, when school students will take over all city jobs for a day.

A motion was also passed to offer the services of the Jaycees in active support of a living memorial to war dead of Cumberland, as already suggested by Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, which has appointed a committee. Paint Shop Appeal Granted by Board

The board of zoning appeals yesterday approved an appeal of Brooks Joy and Harry Hoffman, both of RFD 1, Allegany Grove, for an occupancy permit to use a one-story building at the rear of 430 Laing avenue as a shop for painting cars.

Their application for a permit was denied May 23 by Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, on the ground that the building is located in a Residential B zoning district.

Both Joy and Hoffman testified at the board meeting, stating that they plan to conduct the business on a small scale, and that odors from the paint will not be offensive to nearby residents. LeRoy Miller, 213 Oak street, owner of the building, said that it was previously occupied by the Tiny Tot Furniture Company, and that the company made toys and painted them on the premises. Before that time, Liberty dairy trucks were stored in the building, Miller added.

J. E. Wetzel, board chairman, said that approval of the appeal was based on a section of the zoning ordinance which provides for the continuance of use of a building for the same general purpose as in the past.

Henry Bosenberg, 517 City View terrace, secured a building permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to enclose the front porch at his home with frame walls covered with inselbrick. Work, which is estimated to cost $150, will be done by the owner.
